CRAMP TO RAMP, MAXWELL SERVES MAXI-MUMBAI ENTERTAINMENT

Battling cramps, Glenn Maxwell hit an unbeaten double century for the ages to guide the five-time champions home against Afghanistan

A WORLD CUP INNINGS FOR THE AGES

When Maxwell walked in, it looked like a question of when and not if. But he conjured up a superlative innings to almost singlehandedly drive Australia to the target of 292. However, Afghanistan will be left to rue the missed opportunities as they dropped him twice. In the company of Pat Cummins, they stitched a partnership of 202 for the eighth-wicket to win

ONE LAST-FOUR BERTH TO BE DECIDED

- With Australia confirming their place in last four, there is only one remaining last 4 spot up for grabs. Aus will face South Africa in semis
- If New Zealand beats Sri Lanka on Thursday, they will get to 12 points. Then it may come to NRR if Pakistan beats England on Saturday. Afghanistan, with one game remaining, also remain in the hunt | P13

Task force to prevent child marriages

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

WITH little help coming from the government, people of many villages in drought-hit Ballari district are getting their minor daughters married in order to migrate to cities and towns in search of work.

To prevent this, the Ballari district administration has set up task forces in all its taluks. According to data provided by officials, whenever drought hits the state, the number of such cases increases in the district.

An official from the district administration said that to prevent child marriages, task forces have been set up in all taluks and officials are now keeping a strict vigil.

Before migrating to towns and cities in search jobs, many parents try to get their minor daughters married. When officials prevented them from doing so, many blamed the drought for their decision. "We are creating awareness among the people against this menace. We have asked people to call 1098 if they come across such incidents," the official said.

Another official said 61 child marriages have been prevented and four FIRs registered against the parents in the district since May. Drought can't be considered a reason for child marriages. It is against the law. Strict action will be initiated against those violating this law, he added.

Bill tomorrow in Bihar to raise quota cap to 65%

Caste survey report tabled in Assembly; 94L poor families in state

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

ON a day the much-awaited caste survey report was tabled in the Bihar Assembly, Chief Minister Nitish Kumar announced his intention to hike the quota cap for the SC/STs and OBCs, including the extremely backward classes (EBCs), from the Supreme Court-mandated 50% to 65%.

The decision was based on empirical evidence from the caste survey, which put the SC/ST population at a little over 21% and that of OBCs plus EBCs at 63%. With Nitish quantifying the Economically Weaker Section (EWS) in Bihar at 10%, the total quota count will reach 75%.

After the announcement, Nitish chaired a cabinet meeting, which approved four proposals, including hike in reservation in government jobs and educational institutes.

A bill to hike the quota will be introduced in the Assembly on November 9. It will propose raising the SC quota to 20%, STs 2%, OBCs 18%, EBCs 25% and EWS 10%.

According to the survey, the monthly income of Bihar's 34.13% families is just ₹6,000. The number of families in the ₹6,000-10,000 income bracket is 29.61%. In other words, the number of families with an income of up to ₹10,000 per month is more than 63%.

In all, 94 lakh families have a monthly income of ₹6,000 or less. The Nitish government is planning to provide ₹2 lakh each to these poor families to take up some sort of economically productive work. The pro-poor assistance would entail an additional burden of ₹2.51 lakh crore on the exchequer, Nitish said.

INFLATED DATA CLAIM BOGUS, SAYS NITISH

In an apparent response to Union Home Minister Amit Shah's recent allegation at a rally in Muzaffarpur district, Nitish said, "Some say figures of particular communities have been inflated, to the detriment of other castes. These are bogus allegations and must be avoided."

Within the SC/ST population, 42.93% of SC families and 42.72% of STs are poor. Similarly, 33.16% of the OBCs and 33.58% EBC families are poor.

In the general category, the survey found a higher percentage of poor people — 25.32% families as against 23.72% from other castes. Of the poor in the general category, 27.58% are Bhumihars, 25.3% Brahmins, 24.89% Rajputs and 13.83% Kayashthas.

Among Muslims, 25.84% of Sheikhs, 22.2% Pathans (Khan) and 17.61% Sayyids are poor.

Only 7% people of Bihar are graduates while 22.67% students are in classes I to V and 9.19% in classes XI and XII.

HC takes up suo motu case of med staff shortage

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka on Tuesday took suo motu cognisance of "Karnataka short of 16,500 medical personnel: Report" published in TNIE on October 16 and said this issue needs immediate attention.

It is certainly an issue of a larger public interest, the court said and appointed advocate Sridhar Prabhu as its amicus curiae to file a formal petition before it within two weeks.

A division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice Krishna S Dixit took cognisance of the report which stated that Karnataka faced a severe shortage of medical personnel. It said that the state also faced a shortage of PHCs. The report stated that the state faced a shortage of 723 doctors, 7,492 nurses, 1,517 lab technicians, 1,512 pharmacists, 1,752 assistants, and 3,253 Group D employees. Bengaluru Urban, Belagavi, Mysuru, Tumakuru, Hassan and Mandya districts contribute to 39.1% of nursing staff shortage.

India may take up eight naval veterans' case with Blinken

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

INDIA may take up the case of eight naval veterans on death row in Qatar with US Secretary of State Antony Blinken during his India visit on Friday, according to sources. Blinken and US Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin will reach Delhi on November 10 for the '2+2' meeting with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and Defence Minister Rajnath Singh.

"There has been a buzz of backchannel talks to repatriate these eight naval veterans," a source said, adding that India may also be seeking the intervention of other countries.

India has been walking a diplomatic tightrope after a Qatari court handed death penalty to these former Navy officers on October 26, sending shockwaves across the country. The officers were working for a company called Dahra Global Technologies & Consultancy Services in Doha before they were picked up by Qatari authorities on August 30, 2022.

They were subsequently jailed and charges framed against them. Out of the six charges, three were later nullified in the judgment. The remaining three charges carried the same punishment.

The legal team representing the former Navy personnel has already filed an appeal against the verdict. "When the officers heard the verdict on October 26, they didn't understand as the announcement was brief and in Arabic. It was only later that they learnt about it. They were deeply shattered but averred that they did nothing against the Qatari law," said people familiar with the matter.

The family members of the naval veterans have been trying in vain to get their dear ones released. Some have begun signature campaigns to make people aware of the case and garner more support, which they hope will help in the release of the decorated officers.

According to sources, the family members have been advised to sign an indemnity bond, whose details are not clear. However, some are reluctant to sign it as the bond will bind them to certain rules.

Gadag students lock up school over bad meal

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

STUDENTS locked up the government school at Lakkalakatti village in Gadag district on Tuesday for not providing them good food under the Midday Meal Scheme.

The school has 441 students and most of them are from poor families. The students, who staged a protest, alleged that the school authorities have also stopped serving them cooked pulses and eggs. Besides, the toilets are not being maintained properly. Sources said that the quality of food served to schoolchildren is bad and only 4 kg of vegetables are used to make sambar daily.

Meanwhile, the teachers said that they are not aware of the problems faced by the students. They will bring the problems to the notice of the authorities concerned and get them resolved at the earliest. But the protesting students said that the teachers have not taken their complaints seriously.

Students stage a protest in front of the school at Lakkalakatti village on Tuesday

They raised slogans against the school management and said they would boycott classes if steps are not taken to provide them good food. Some students said the elected representatives are not visiting their school as it is in a remote place.

"We appeal to the officials to transfer our headmaster AS Rathod from here. The officials should visit the school soon and address our problems," they said.

'Nothing done so far'

Pradeep Lamani, a resident, said, "My son is in Class 6. After learning that bad food is being served to children, we went to the school a few days ago and spoke to his class teacher. The teacher told us that she will bring it to the notice of senior officials. But nothing has been done so far."

REDONE CANTT STN TO GET PARKING SPACE FOR 2,000 VEHICLES

BMRCL should permit Metro passengers to check-in luggage, says MP Mohan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BENGALURU's Cantonment Railway Station, being redeveloped at a cost of Rs 480 crore, will house 1,000 cars and an equal number of two-wheelers, in its multilevel basement parking facility, said Bengaluru Central MP P C Mohan.

An additional 7,60,000 sqft of space is being added to the existing 25,000 sqft at the station. The foundation stone for the project was laid by Prime Minister Modi on June 20, 2022.

After reviewing the redevelopment work on Tuesday, the MP told the media, "World-class passenger amenities will be developed, which includes air-conditioning, multiple ticket counters, solar rooftop, four Foot Over Bridges, multilevel basement parking for up to 500 cars and 500 bikes in front, as well as at the back entrance, thereby permitting a total of 1000 cars and 1000 two-wheelers at the station."

Main entrance

The redeveloped station will have its main entrance from Vasanthnagar and its second entrance from Miller's Road. "I have urged railway officials to make provision for an additional FOB, connecting a walkway being built here to enable access to all platforms," Mohan said.

Mohan said BMRCL should explore the provision of providing facilities that would permit check-in of luggage for airport travellers at Silk Board, KR Pura and Hebbal Metro Stations on the way to KIA. Officials have been told to make provision for cycles and electric bikes along with charging docks near Bamboo Bazaar Station, he said.

'Travelator necessary'

In a letter to BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez later, the MP referred to the skywalk being built to connect the underground Metro station with Cantonment railway station. "I would request you to add a travelator in your Detailed Project Report for the convenience of commuters," he said. An assurance to build a travelator to connect Bamboo Bazaar Metro Station to Cantonment Station was given by BMRCL in the past, the letter pointed out. In a communication to Bengaluru Divisional Railway Manager Yogesh Mohan, the MP asked Railways to expedite all clearances sought by BMRCL within the railway premises, in connection with the redevelopment work.

Engineer in each ward to tackle rain woes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

"AS rain is expected to continue for three more days in Bengaluru, each ward should have a dedicated engineer for disaster management," BBMP administrator Rakesh Singh told all zonal commissioners on Tuesday. He held a virtual meeting with the BBMP officials, saying, "The dedicated engineer should be responsible for disaster management, for filling potholes, garbage management and repair of pavements."

Singh insisted that the engineers should immediately provide a temporary solution to the issues in the ward and they can focus on giving a permanent solution. He also directed them to take precautionary measures to prevent any damage, especially at places where construction works of Metro, BESCOM and BWSSB infrastructure are on, and that the concerned department officials are urged to finish the same.

BBMP conduct a footpath eviction drive on Tuesday around Jayanagar Shopping Complex, where unauthorised vendors were obstructing the movement of pedestrians by setting up metal sheds and pushcarts on the pavement. BBMP officials maintain that despite repeated warnings, the vendors did not clear the walkways and they were forced to take up the eviction drive | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said that during heavy rain, the city's roads get flooded as the shoulder drains that carry rainswater are clogged. He directed officials to ensure that the drains are clog-free and that the rainwater flows down the drain without flooding the roads. He pointed out that water stagnation is common in places where the Metro has put up barricades to take up construction work and suggested that the BBMP officials work together with Metro officials in ensuring that the barricades don't block the free flow of water.

He added that the shoulder drains and stormwater drains be desilted and the silt be removed from the spot and asked the BBMP team to use motor pumps to suck out the stagnant water.

Girinath asked officials to make a list of houses that are flooded and the relief measures needed. "As there is a prediction for heavy rain in Mahadevpura, the sluice gates at Bellandur and Varthur lakes will be asked to be opened," he said. Staff at the BBMP Control Room said that there were not many rain-related complaints on Tuesday. "There were instances of tree falls in Sanjaynagar and Hebbal, and there were two complaints of water-logging in Bilekahalli and Race Course Road. Our men have attended to all complaints on a war footing and are ready for disaster management," an official from the control room said.

Recruitment for 1,208 asst profs to be done by yr-end

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HIGHER Education Minister Dr MC Sudhakar on Tuesday announced that the recruitment process for 1,208 assistant professors to government degree colleges in the state will be completed by the end of December. The department has been instructed to take appropriate steps immediately. The positions of assistant professors have been vacant for the last three years.

In the coming days, various checks, such as police and medical verifications, will be done, following which the candidates will be allotted first-grade degree positions.

Selected individuals arrived at Sudhakar's residence and celebrated on Tuesday evening. "Don't unnecessarily apply for transfers, citing parents' health or family problems. If you get an opportunity to serve in rural areas, you must do it," Sudhakar said, addressing the candidates.

People from different fields should work together to build nation: Heggade

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

"IF we have to build a glorious nation, people from different fields should contribute and work together," said Rajya Sabha member and Dharmasthala Dharmadhikari Veerendra Heggade. Speaking after receiving the Champions of Change Karnataka Award here on Tuesday, Heggade said fields like cinema and sports should work together for social and cultural development.

Awards were given to 25 personalties from different categories like the social sector, science and innovation, culture, healthcare, sports etc. Among the prominent personalities who received the awards were former chief minister SM Krishna, scientist CNR Rao, theatre artiste and singer Manjamma Jogathi, environmentalist Tulsi Gowda, former cricketer Venkatesh Prasad, Kannada film actors and directors – Ravichandran and Upendra -- among others. Late actor Vishnuvardan was also given the award posthumously.

Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, who handed over the awards, urged citizens to emulate selfless service for a better society. "It is those individuals who prioritise the welfare of others against their personal gain, who serve as role models of inspiration for the development of society," he said.

He pointed out that there were many stalwarts in the nation who sacrificed their personal wealth for the wellbeing of the country and called upon people to draw inspiration from these luminaries and engage in philanthropic endeavours for the greater good.

Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya, who received an award, said that awards are not just recognition, but an added responsibility. Champions of Change Karnataka is the state version of the 'Champions of Change National Award' given by Interactive Forum On Indian Economy (IFIE), a non-profit organisation.

BENGALURU A TOP CHOICE FOR NRI SPEND IN REALTY: REPORT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BENGALURU and Mumbai are the top choices for Non-Resident Indians (NRIs) to invest in real estate, according to a report on NRI Real Estate, 2023. As per data, NRI contribution to the Indian real estate sector has witnessed steady growth over the past few years, and is said to grow to 17 per cent of the overall primary sales in the country.

"With its cosmopolitan lifestyle, world-class educational institutions, and thriving startup ecosystem, the rental yield of Bengaluru has gone up substantially, making it a good investment destination," stated the 15-page report by the company NoBroker.com on Tuesday.

Around 29 per cent of respondents crowned Bengaluru as their top choice for real estate investment, followed by Mumbai, which garnered the preference of 24 per cent of NRI buyers. The report is based on a survey conducted with over 12,000 customers.

The survey highlighted that over 54 per cent of respondents expressed a strong inclination to invest in gated communities, emphasising safety, convenience, amenities, and community living. In terms of property types, respondents opted for 3 BHK units, with 40 per cent opting for spaces with a budget exceeding Rs 1 crore, inclining towards high-value investments, focusing on premium and luxury real estate options.

Most of the NRIs (34 per cent) looking for investment in Indian real estate are from IT or technology-related backgrounds, followed by 12 per cent from the finance field and 9 per cent each from among entrepreneurs and the medical industry, the report elaborated.

Despite growing demand, NRIs face challenges such as managing rental properties, finding a tenant, property inspection, rent collection, and administrative responsibilities, lack of information. Fifty-two per cent of NRI owners said they wanted property management services.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

08TH November : It's a Sagittarian day today – by which I mean it's time for all of us to spread our wings and try something new, no matter what our individual horoscopes say. Some of us may decide to take a long journey. Others may go on a voyage of the spirit, through meditation or the arts. I'm not sure what I'm going to do yet. I think I'll wait for the inspiration to come!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It's a romantic day, one when you'll be pursuing your highest ideals. The risky planetary situation is compounded by lunar influences which create confusion. One option you may wish to consider today is to turn down lively opportunities and go for peace and quiet.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Listen to experienced colleagues. Unless you follow cautious advice, you might find that plans or projects already in the pipeline may have to be abandoned because of others' lack of support and assistance. Still, it could be good for you to cut your reliance on partners.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The correct way for you to go at the moment is towards ethical actions and high standards. Be graceful if others offend you and be charitable if you see that they are in need of your help. You may be annoyed and irritated with them, but you still need to do your best.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
However much you would like to be the centre of attention, if you are a typical Cancerian you will find it very difficult to be truly selfish this week. Something keeps pulling you back to the need to put others' interests first. Just don't allow your goodwill to be taken for granted.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Mercury's position is still favourable, so what you are now told or discover could place an old situation in a new light. If at all possible, please do put extra energy into all professional aspirations. The time is coming for a change of job, or at least extra responsibilities.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The Moon is playing a fresh role in your relationships, stirring up your deepest needs, feelings and desires. What you have to do now is recognise that partners have rights, too. Or, in plain English, you'd better get on with other people - or else!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Nobody understands better than you that sometimes, like now, it is prudent to walk away from upsetting situations. You should also observe the old adage that it is best to be magnanimous in victory. If you begin to turn your attention to domestic repairs, then you'll save yourself time and effort next week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Quite aside from the difficulties posed by planets influencing both domestic and professional sectors of your chart, others, influen-cing travel and adventure, are utterly favourable. Surprisingly, emotional complications may put you on the right track.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
As Venus moves from one set of relationships to another, a number of points may be cleared up. For a start, older friends are the best, especially where money is concerned. Team up with people who are more experienced than you. And don't be too proud to ask for help.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
No matter how hard you try to control your financial affairs, you always seem to end up somehow failing to maximise your profits. This is very much an all-or-nothing situation. Hopefully you've learnt well from recent lessons, and you're now a winner rather than a loser.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
I know that you may find it hard to believe, but something truly worthwhile will emerge from all the struggles you are going through. You can only go up if you've been down, first. Great things await! Plus, of course, you will soon be facing a profitable monetary choice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Let others make the running. There is no need for you to dive in first if you feel that the waters of life are looking rather too risky. A Fish you may be, but you must still watch out for sharks. Above all, you now have to decide whether to face a deep emotional issue, or let sleeping dogs lie.

HC slaps ₹1 L cost on govt for delay in relief

Man whose 6-yr-old son drowned in open drain in Ballari 10 yrs ago has been running from pillar to post for compensation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

The High Court of Karnataka has imposed Rs 1 lakh cost on the state government for making the father of a six-year-old boy, who drowned in an open drain in Ballari a decade ago, to run from pillar to post for a compensation of Rs 5 lakh.

The cost has to be paid to Karan Sing S Rajapurohith, the father of the boy, residing at Hospet in Ballari district. The compensation was paid to him under the Disaster Management Act after he approached the court for the third time since 2013. The court also ordered that Rajapurohith be paid 6% interest per annum on Rs 5 lakh from October 15, 2013, within six weeks.

The court said that Rajapurohith be paid 12% interest if the amount did not reach him within six weeks. The cost of Rs 1 lakh would be increased by Rs 50,000 month on month till it reaches Rajapurohith, the court said.

Passing the order on the petition of Rajapurohith, Justice M Nagaprasanna said that it is open to the state to fix accountability on such callous ignorance of the claim of the petitioner throughout and recover the interest and cost from the errant personnel in a manner known to law.

"It cannot be forgotten that the sudden loss of a son or a daughter is a terrible blow to the parents. One of the most painful moments of one's life is to be the pallbearer of a deceased child. The emotional vacuum left by the sudden departure of a child cannot be filled by monetary compensation. But still, to ameliorate the emotional vacuum left by the child, monetary compensation is paid to the parents. Therefore, it is necessary for the state to upkeep and safekeep the interests of citizens so that such incidents do not repeat," the court observed.

Constable kills wife 11 days after delivery, attempts to make it look like suicide

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru:

A police constable attached to the Chamarajanagar district police, reportedly attempted suicide after killing his wife, who delivered a baby just 11 days ago. The accused, Kishore, made a futile attempt to make the murder look like suicide, and escaped after his wife's family returned home, on Monday.

The woman, Prathiba, 23, was at her parents' house for the delivery, at Kolathur in Hosakote police limits. On the pretext of seeing his newborn daughter, the cop visited his wife and smothered her to death.

Kishore then went to his hometown, Kolar, and reportedly attempted suicide. He is undergoing treatment in the ICU ward of a private hospital, and his condition is said to be critical.

Kishore and Prathiba would often quarrel, as he allegedly cast aspersions on her character, and tortured her with his abusive behaviour. Due to their troubled married life, Prathiba's family members are said to have advised him on several occasions. The couple was married for the past one year.

Kishore, after committing the murder when his in-laws were away, tried to make it look like a case of suicide. He tied a saree to a ceiling fan, and was attempting to hang the body from it when his in-laws returned, and he escaped from the house.

His parents-in-law immediately discovered the murder and reported the matter to the jurisdictional Hosakote police. Police, who were searching for Kishore, found that he had attempted suicide.

Hosakote police registered a case of murder and are investigating.

5 drown as car falls into canal in Mandya

The car being pulled up from the Visvesvaraya canal in Pandavapura taluk on Tuesday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

A car plunged into the Visvesvaraya canal, killing five passengers, near Banaghatta in Pandavapura taluk on Tuesday.

The deceased are K T Krishnappa (64) from Tiptur taluk in Tumakuru district, Chandrappa (61), Dhananjaya (55), Jayanna and Babu. This is the second incident as four people had met a watery grave after their car fell into the canal recently.

According to villagers, the car was travelling from Mysuru to Nagamangala taluk when it plunged into the canal. The incident happened when the driver of the speeding car tried to avoid hitting a bike near the under construction bridge at 4.45 pm. As the canal was full due to water being released from KRS dam on Monday, the five passengers could not escape and drowned. Tender coconut sellers noticed the incident jumped and into the canal to rescue the people for more than half-an-hour but failed. They informed the fire service and police who launched an operation to rescue the people.

The police with expert swimmers managed to trace the vehicle by late evening. The car was fished out of the canal using a crane at 8.15 pm.

Setting house in order? DKS meets Satish before flying to New Delhi

DyCM to discuss changing working prezs; Jarkiholi wants his men in

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister and Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president DK Shivakumar held a closed-door meeting with PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi at the latter's residence in Bengaluru on Tuesday.

Soon after the meeting, Shivakumar left for Delhi where he is likely to meet Congress high command leaders, including party chief Mallikarjun Kharge. In political corridors, Satish is considered an arch rival of Shivakumar and a staunch supporter of CM Siddaramaiah.

The meeting comes in the wake of Satish staying away from a meeting organised by Shivakumar in Belagavi on October 18 and Siddaramaiah hosting a dinner meet at Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara's house recently in which the PWD minister was present.

According to sources, Satish had plans to take 20 MLAs on a foreign tour and party national generalsecretary KC Venugopal had to intervene to thwart his "mission".

Meanwhile, a Valmiki community religious head had recently said that Satish was fully fit to become the CM.

Speculation is rife that Shivakumar and Satish discussed the prevailing political situation in Belagavi district — the latter's home district — and appointments to the party state unit.

As the AICC plans to replace KPCC working presidents who have become ministers, including Satish, he wants a person of his choice to be appointed. Satish is backing former minister Vinay Kulkarni and Raichur District Congress Committee president Prasanna Kumar for the working president post.

Meanwhile, Satish has been backing former MLA Anjali Nimbalkar for the post of KPCC women's wing president. "This is to counter minister Laxmi Hebbalkar," an informed source told The New Indian Express.

Meanwhile, Shivakumar also met his lawyers regarding the disproportionate assets (DA) case against him, said informed sources.

The CBI which was probing the case has filed a writ petition in the Supreme Court as the Karnataka High Court has given a stay. The case was listed for hearing on Tuesday, but adjourned to November 10, sources added.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah prays at the Hasanamba Temple in Hassan district on Tuesday | EXPRESS

'Centre not releasing input subsidy for drought'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hassan

EXPRESSING unhappiness against the Centre for allegedly failing to release input subsidy to tackle drought and release crop compensation, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday said it's the duty of the Union government to consider the state's proposal and release grants to tackle the drought-like situation.

He told reporters before visiting the Goddess Hasanamba Temple here that in a federal system, Union governments should release input subsidy under the National Disaster Relief Fund (NDRF), as per guidelines. The state government has sent a proposal for Rs 17,901 crore to the Centre, which is yet to respond, despite a Central study team visiting and conducting a survey.

Asked about former CM HD Kumaraswamy's alleged remarks that it is the responsibility of the state government to tackle drought, Siddaramaiah said Kumaraswamy should pressure the Union government as the JDS is part of the NDA.

Later, chairing a review meeting, Siddaramaiah said that senior officials, including the deputy commissioner, ZP CEO, tahsildars and executive officers of taluks should take steps to achieve 100 per cent target of newly implemented schemes and programmes, including Gruhajyothi and Bhagyalakshmi schemes.

He also said that action will be taken against officials for keeping revenue, land and social security scheme files pending. Delaying work amounts to corruption and will not be tolerated, and all officials should follow the guidelines of the government, he added.

Go to Centre to get relief instead of drought tour, CM tells BJP netas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS senior Bharatiya Janata Party leaders started their visit to the drought-hit areas in the state on Tuesday, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said that instead of taking up such an exercise for political reasons, senior BJP leaders, including 25 BJP MPs from the state, should ensure that the Centre releases grants to the state.

The Central team visited the state and assessed the drought situation, despite that Karnataka has not received any assistance from the Centre, the chief minister said.

The state suffered losses of Rs 33,700 crore and appealed for a compensation of Rs 17,900 crore.

"We have no problem with that (BJP leaders visiting drought-hit areas), but they are doing it for political reasons. Instead of visiting drought-hit areas, let them ask the Centre to release the grants," he added.

Siddaramaiah said if the BJP leaders have any concern for the state and farmers, they must ensure that the Centre releases grants. The Central ministers did not even give time to meet the ministers from the state to discuss the prevailing situation in the state and seek assistance, he said.

Meanwhile, senior BJP leaders including former chief minister BS Yediyurappa and other leaders are visiting the drought-hit taluks to get first-hand information about the situation.

They hit out at the government for failing to provide relief to farmers.

IS PRIME MINISTER A DICTATOR, WONDERS CM

HASSAN: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday wondered whether Prime Minister Narendra Modi was a dictator. Reacting to former CM BS Yediyurappa's statement that he was arrogant, Siddaramaiah questioned if the PM can make allegations without any proof against him, his deputy DK Shivakumar and the State Government at a poll campaign in Madhya Pradesh. "What is wrong in me questioning Modi," the CM asked. On Vijayapura City BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal calling the Congress a "shameless party", the CM said, "The BJP top brass has issued a notice to Yatnal for calling his own party colleagues shameless."

BJP demands Priyank's sacking over KEA exam kingpin's escape

ENS @ Bengaluru

EVEN while BJP Karnataka is demanding that Chief Minister Siddaramiah sack Rural Development and Panchayat Raj, and IT-BT Minister Priyank Kharge from his cabinet for allegedly allowing Karnataka Examinations Authority (KEA) exam scam kingpin RD Patil to escape, Home Minister G Parameshwara said Patil reportedly fled to Maharashtra and he has directed police to arrest him at the earliest. The CCTV footage of RD Patil, who is also prime accused in the PSI recruitment scam, escaping from his residential complex in Kalaburagi was widely criticised by people and opposition leaders.

BJP Karnataka claimed on social media that Kharge is safeguarding Patil, kingpin in the FDA exams conducted by the KEA. "Kharge does not deserve to continue as minister for a moment. Siddaramaiah should sack corrupt minister from his cabinet," they demanded. BJP state vice-president BY Vijayendra said the entire state is safeguarding the accused. So far, over 20 people have been arrested from Kalaburagi and Yadgir for using Bluetooth to write the test conducted by KEA on October 28. As Patil's name surfaced, he fled on Monday.

Parameshwara said in Bengaluru that police are on the hunt for Patil. "We have got information that he escaped to Maharashtra. He will be arrested," he said. Asked if they will hand over the case to the CID, he said if required, CID would probe the case.

HDK chants unity mantra in Hassan

ENS @ Hassan

JDS state president and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy on Tuesday said that he has decided to hold a special meeting of all 19 party MLAs in Hassan — the home district of party supremo HD Deve Gowda — to send out a message of unity among the party legislators.

Speaking to reporters in Hassan after visiting the Hasanamba Temple, Kumaraswamy said that the need of the hour is to put an end to murmurs that a few JDS MLAs have decided to join the Congress. "All 19 MLAs are united and will stay in Hassan for two days. The MLAs will also visit the temple on Wednesday before attending the meeting," he said.

He said he prayed to Goddess Hasanamba to save the farmers hit by drought and also give strength to those in power to give good governance. Admitting that the Gowda family is god-fearing, he said the family has grown bigger in politics and his father Deve Gowda became the PM only with the blessings of the almighty.

Will soon announce winter session dates: Speaker

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

Assembly Speaker UT Khader, Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti, and officials inspect the Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi on Tuesday | EXPRESS

"PREPARATIONS will be made to hold a model winter session this December at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi. The government will announce the session dates soon," said Speaker UT Khader here on Tuesday.

Khader and Legislative Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti held a joint press conference after inspecting Suvarna Vidhana Soudha on Tuesday. "It is certain that the session will be held in December. That is why we have come here to check, review and conduct meetings with officers, asking them to be prepared for the session. We wish it will be a model session this time. The deputy commissioner has been told to form 10 committees to ensure all preparations are made. He has also been instructed to provide facilities to Assembly and Council members," Khader said.

Horatti said, "During the session, more time will be dedicated to discuss burning issues of North Karnataka. Some ministers and MLAs think that Belagavi sessions are only for protests. We appeal to farmers, workers and members of organisations, who want to protest, to approach officers of concerned departments and get their issues resolved before the session starts, allowing a smooth session."

He said, "When the land was identified for the construction of Suvarna Vidhana Soudha, then chief minister Kumaraswamy and I had informed the officers to prepare the blueprint keeping Bengaluru's Vidhana Soudha in mind. But the next government prepared a new blueprint and constructed this building. At Bengaluru Vidhana Soudha, it is easy to find ministers' offices, but that is not the case in Suvarna Vidhana Soudha."

He said that some state-level offices are functioning out of Suvarna Vidhana Soudha. But officers are not interested in working in North Karnataka. They come here only when their Bengaluru offices are closed, he added.

After the construction of Suvarna Vidhana Soudha, the demand for merging Belagavi with Maharashtra has reduced. The structure has sparked love and respect for Kannada in border districts, he opined. "Many demand that the governor should address the joint session. We will take steps towards that. A proposal will be sent to the chief minister," Horatti said.

Chandregowda, who vacated LS seat for Indira, passes away

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DB Chandregowda

VETERAN politician and former minister DB Chandregowda, who vacated his Lok Sabha seat for former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi that allowed her to stage a political comeback in 1978, passed away at his residence in Daradahalli in Mudigere taluk of Chikkamagaluru district on Tuesday.

He was 87 and is survived by his wife and four daughters.

Chandregowda is among a few politicians in the state who has been a member of the Legislative Assembly (three terms), Legislative Council (one term), Lok Sabha (two terms) and Rajya Sabha (one term). Interestingly, Chandregowda, an LLB graduate, was associated with the Congress, Janata Dal and BJP.

Chandregowda won the 1971 and 1977 Lok Sabha elections from Chikkamagaluru. He came to national limelight when he resigned as an MP to make way for former PM Indira Gandhi to contest and win from Chikkamagaluru. He was made an MLC by Congress between 1978 and 1983.

However, Chandregowda quit Congress in 1983 to join the Karnataka Kranti Ranga (KKR) party floated by former chief minister Devaraj Urs. KKR later merged with the Janata Party in 1983, after which he contested and won from the Thirthahalli Assembly segment. By 1986, when Janata Party became Janata Dal, he continued to be in the party which made him a Rajya Sabha member. He also won the 1989 Assembly polls from Thirthahalli on a Janata Dal ticket. But in 1999, he returned to Congress and won the Assembly polls from Sringeri.

He served as the Leader of Opposition in both Assembly and Council, Assembly speaker, and minister for law and parliamentary affairs. He also successfully contested from Bengaluru North Parliamentary seat on a BJP ticket.

Many leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi and CM Siddaramaiah paid tributes to Chandregowda.

"Anguished by the passing away of Shri DB Chandregowda Ji. A stalwart of public service, his extensive experience as MP, MLA, and Minister in Karnataka has left an indelible mark. His deep understanding of our Constitution and commitment to community service were noteworthy. My heartfelt condolences to his family and supporters" PM shared on social media.

Siddaramaiah too said that Chandregowda, who was from a socialist background, was dear to him. "He served as a member of the Legislative Assembly, Legislative Council, Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha. A skilled administrator and a good parliamentarian, Gowda was responsible for Mrs Indira Gandhi's political rebirth by giving up her Lok Sabha seat," the CM recalled. "He was well read and had good knowledge in literature. His demise is a loss to Karnataka politics" he added.

Woman with mental illness struggles to get back her benefits

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

PUNAM M, a 36-year-old woman from Mannagudda in the city who is suffering from a mental illness, is struggling to get back her benefits under various social welfare schemes and also apply for the Gruhalakshmi scheme that provides a monthly financial assistance of Rs 2,000 to the woman head of the family. She was getting the disability pension and Anna Bhagya benefit, but they stopped two months ago as she could not seed her bank account. Since then she has been making rounds to government offices and the bank looking for help with some documents in hand.

It took more than a month for her to seed her bank account. She could not complete the procedure as it requires a cell phone and she did not have one. After some time, she managed to get a device with the help of her well-wishers, but this time a new problem cropped up. There was a mismatch in her name mentioned in the Aadhaar card and the bank account. On Tuesday, she finally managed to rectify that too.

Not knowing whom to approach now, Punam said she will go to an 'internet centre' to apply for the Gruhalakshmi scheme and also get her other benefits back.

Punam lost her mother when she was very young and after that she came under the care of her father and grandmother. But both died three years ago. Her aunt and uncle who live close by help her with food and other minor requirements, but they cannot do much because of their old age.

As drought takes hold, villages in Gadag district empty out

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

As monsoon failed and farm work ended early, migration of people in the workable age group started to rise across Gadag district | EXPRESS

AS severe drought turns vast swathes of land barren, villages in Gadag district are resembling old age homes with many farmers and daily wage workers migrating to cities to earn a living. Though this repeats every year, the situation this year is serious and is seen across all taluks of the district.

As monsoon failed and farm work ended early, migration of people in the workable age group started to rise. In other years, they would continue to get farm work till October and November, but because of the deficit rainfall they have no work now. They have now gone to cities in Goa, Mangaluru, Pune and Bengaluru in search of jobs.

Lakshmehwar, Shirahatti, Mundargi, Ganjendragad and Naragund taluks in the district have many tandas, from where residents migrate to cities regularly and come back when agricultural activities resume in Gadag district.

Shantaveerappa Huilgol from Mulgund near Gadag said, "We are moving to a big city in search of jobs. We are a family of five with my wife and two sisters. We have been sitting here idle for the last two months. If we go to Mangaluru or Bengaluru, we get a wage of Rs 700-800 every day. Here, we get Rs 250-300. Even if we get Rs 300, it is okay, but there is no work. We cannot depend on the government's guarantees for now. If all five guarantees are implemented and if it rains in the coming days, we will definitely come back as bus rides are free for our women."

An official from Gadag Zilla Panchayat said, "We have created many man days (under the NREGA scheme), but still some people are migrating. Our staff have convinced many and stopped them from migrating."

A Commemorative Postage Stamp in honour of the Raman Research Institute (RRI), which is completing 75 years of its scientific journey was released on Tuesday by Governor Thaawarchand Ghelot. He said that India's science and technology have shown the way every time the world has faced challenges.

HC bars OPS from using AIADMK flag

Petition filed by party general secretary EPS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

THE Madras High Court has barred former Tamil Nadu Chief Minister O Panneerselvam from using the AIADMK flag, symbol and letterhead.

The interim order was passed by Justice N Sathish Kumar on a petition filed by AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami which said that OPS is creating confusion among partymen and interfering with the affairs of the AIADMK.

Citing that there is no stay granted by the Supreme Court against an order of a division bench of the Madras HC that refused to stay the results of the party election in which EPS was unanimously elected as the general secretary, the judge told OPS not to claim himself as AIADMK coordinator henceforth or use the AIADMK flag, symbol, or letterhead. EPS' counsel told the court that OPS has been misusing the party flag and letterhead even after he was expelled from the AIADMK at the general council meeting held on July 11, 2022.

Advocate commissioner Justice Sathish Kumar of the Madras HC, meanwhile, ordered constitution of an advocate commissioner, Karthikei Balan, for recording evidence of EPS at his residence in connection with a defamation suit filed by him against journalist Mathew Samuels for linking him with the Kodanad heist-cum-murder case.

The order was passed on a petition filed by EPS seeking exemption from appearing before the Master Court for testifying evidence citing security reasons.

The judge directed the advocate commissioner to complete the procedure and file a report within a month.

Untimely death of Mohanty, a blow to BJD

Bhubaneswar: The untimely death of Puri strongman Maheshwar Mohanty on Tuesday, barely months away from elections has put the electoral preparations of BJD in jeopardy. Mohanty as the president of the Puri district BJD was known for his organisational skills and commanded the respect of all the leaders because of his vast experience. He was the balancing factor in the faction ridden Puri district BJD organisation. Sources maintained that as elections are round the corner, the post of the district president will have to filled up soon.

Bus station mishap: action against driver

Vijayawada: A day after the mishap at Pandit Nehru Bus Station that claimed the lives of three, APSRTC on Tuesday placed the RTC bus driver and the assistant manager of Auto Nagar bus depot under suspension to initiate departmental action. Three people, including a 10-month-old boy, were killed in the accident on Monday. A 3-member Joint Enquiry Committee in their investigation reportedly found that there were no technical glitches in the vehicle, and that the 61-yr-old driver, V Prakasam, reportedly was inexperienced in driving the automatic gear vehicle.

PM slams BRS, says corrupt won't be spared

Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the BC Aatma Gourava Sabha Public meeting in Hyderabad | SRI LOGANATHAN VELMURUGAN

STATING that BRS leaders, without naming Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao's daughter K Kavitha, are also linked to the Delhi liquor scam, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday "guaranteed" that no one linked to corruption would be spared, and the "looted" money would be retrieved.

"BRS leaders have abused the investigation agencies for probing their corruption. I want to tell the people on the top of my voice that there will be a corruption investigation. Those who have looted the people have to repay the people. My brothers and sisters of Telangana, this is Modi's guarantee," he said, addressing the BC Atma Gourava Sabha at the LB Stadium here.

The public meeting reiterated the BJP's promise of a "BC CM" if it was voted to power in the state.

Addressing the gathering, Modi recalled that it was from the same stadium that he addressed a public meeting as part of his 2014 General Election campaign.

"After the unambiguous victory, the BJP made the first BC prime minister. Today, I can firmly say that the BJP will make Telangana's first BC chief minister after the elections," he said.

Accusing KCR government of being anti-BC, SC and ST in its nine-year rule, Modi said that the BRS government needs to be rooted out, and the people of Telangana have made up their mind to "throw it out" on November 30 (polling day).

NCLAT orders forensic audit of Indus Motor

Kochi: The National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) issued an interim order on Tuesday, appointing an independent forensic auditor to conduct a comprehensive audit of Indus Motor, a company owned by Rajya Sabha member P V Abdul Wahab and his family. The case against Indus Motors was brought forward by minority shareholders in Feb 2020, citing allegations of mismanagement, poor governance, and financial irregularities. The NCLAT bench designated Chennai-based Maharaj NR Suresh and Co. LLP as the appointed auditor, tasking them with completing the company's audit within 60 days. Abdul Wahab, a member of the Indian Union Muslim League, is recognised as one of Kerala's wealthiest parliamentarians.

Naidu plans scams not schemes: Jagan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Vijayawada

ACCUSING TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu of ignoring the needs and problems of farmers while heading the government for 14 years, Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy alleged that the 73-year-old was only focused on scams to amass wealth instead of on schemes to help people.

Jagan was addressing a large public gathering at Puttaparthi in Sri Sathyasai district on Tuesday as part of a programme to disburse ₹2,204.77 crore to 53.53 lakh farmers under the second installment of the YSR Rythu Bharosa-PM Kisan initiative.

Stating that Naidu was seeking power only to loot the State once again and share it with his cohorts, he said, "The former CM was never interested in addressing people's problems, and farmers in particular. He always schemed to scam them. Not a single scheme can be attributed to Naidu," he remarked.

Mystery boxes help cops unearth scam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Shivamogga

THE police investigation into the discovery of two suspicious boxes near Shivamogga police station has led to the unearthing of a fake loan scam. Police arrested two people, Baba alias Nazrulla and Mohammad Jabiulla in this regard.

The two suspicious boxes were discovered near the parking area of Shivamogga railway station, causing panic among public on Sunday. However, the bomb squad from Bengaluru found waste and salt inside the boxes. The police, who were on a hunt for the culprits, arrested the two suspects. Upon interrogation, the police found that they accused were involved in fake loan scams.

SP Mithun Kumar GK, on Tuesday told that a CCTV captured the accused placing the boxes outside the station. "After their detention and interrogation, it has been revealed that the accused used to target those in need of money and assure them that they would get loan sanctioned in exchange for a commission," the SP said. He also revealed that the accused would tell their victims that they were in touch with influential people and politicians, thereby assuring them of loans at a cheaper interest. They told the victims to collect the boxes (filled with waste and salt) from the station. The victims failed to collect, and the public informed the police. The accused were involved in similar cases in Tiptur in 2021.

5 arrested for cheating AP businessman

A gang of conmen who tried to cheat a businessman from Andhra Pradesh on the pretext of selling him a property in Tirupati, was arrested by High Grounds police.

The businessman, Radha Krishna, had given Rs 1.09 crore in cash to the accused. Police have recovered Rs 65 lakh from the conmen. Krishna had filed a complaint with High Grounds police about the incident, which happened last month.

Krishna had come to Bengaluru with his friend Shivakumar, and they had met the accused at a reputed hotel in the CBD. The men showed Krishna some property documents and told him that the owner was in KR Puram. They made him wait in the hotel, and said they would take Shivakumar with them to meet him. They accused left with Shivakumar and the cash in their car.

Enroute, they stopped and asked Shivakumar to get them juice. When Shivakumar stepped out of the car, the gang escaped with the cash. Shivakumar informed his friend about the con job and returned to the hotel. The gang had shown Krishna fake property documents of land in Tirupati.

Police have identified the accused as Sanjay, Srinivas, Lokanathachari and Prabhakar Reddy. The accused had purchased gold and silver ornaments with the money and also spent it for their personal use. Investigations are on.

REGULATOR MUST CLARIFY DUE CLEARANCE ORDER IN INSOLVENCIES

THE Supreme Court's judgement in the Rainbow Papers case upsets the insolvency applecart in India. The court has rejected requests for a review of its earlier order passed in September 2022, where it said that government dues must get higher priority when distributing the proceeds of an insolvent and liquidated company. Refusing to alter its view on the case, the court recently said that the earlier order did not miss the priority rule while deciding the matter. The order goes against the grain of insolvency law in India, which gives employees and financial creditors priority over statutory or government dues. It not only threatens the basic premise of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC), but also creates uncertainty about a law that was otherwise clearly spelt out. Curiously, it also goes against the Supreme Court's judgement in another case—Paschimanchal Vidyut Vitran Nigam vs Raman Ispat—where the court said the Rainbow Papers judgement "missed altogether" the waterfall mechanism under IBC's Section 53.

The core issue that needs settling is if secured statutory dues such as unpaid taxes should be treated in the manner of the financial creditors' secured claims. The IBC is clear that government dues come in the priority list after dues of workers, employees and secured and unsecured financial creditors. The Rainbow Papers judgement, however, puts statutory dues at par with those of secured creditors. The framers of the IBC had deliberately given higher priority to the dues of employees, workers and financial institutions. One of the arguments was that the loans given by banks to an insolvent company are ultimately taxpayers' money and hence they must get priority over government dues.

Two different sets of observations—in Rainbow Papers and Paschimanchal Vidyut—have certainly created confusion on the matter and would only further delay resolution of insolvency cases. The IBC must not lose its basic character in which banks and financial institutions' claims get priority over government and shareholders' dues. While some judgements can be case-specific and do not necessarily alter the basic design of the underlying law, the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India, the regulator, must come out with specific amendments to clearly spell out the provisions of the waterfall mechanism in case of the liquidation of a corporate debtor.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY BOOST BEFORE OLYMPICS TEST

IT was like a dream when the Indian women's hockey team reached the semifinals of the Tokyo Olympics in 2021. They created history but fell short of a medal. The team came out of the shadows—they were no longer also-rans, but a force that could not be ignored. A lot was expected of them. The next goal was a top-half finish at the 2022 World Cup—yet, India finished ninth. At the Asian Games this year, despite being a favourite to reach the final, the team was beaten by hosts China in the semifinals. It meant that they lost an opportunity, unlike the men who won gold, to qualify for the Olympics. They had to be content with a bronze medal after beating Japan in the play-off. It was like a consolation prize. The difference between Indian men's team and the rest of Asia is vast at the moment; but the same cannot be said of the women's team.

So when the Asian Champions Trophy began in Ranchi, all eyes were on them. They had the same opponents as at the Asiad and anything less than a final would have been considered a disaster. True to their belief and strength, coach Janneke Schopman and her girls showcased their A game and remained unbeaten through the entire tournament. The title could also mean that Hockey India keeps Schopman on board rather than sacking her (there were some noises that she could be done away with following the defeat at the Asian Games). India avenged the Asian Games defeat against China and eventually beat the defending champions Japan in the final to lift the Asian Champions Trophy for the second time in history.

This, however, would just be an appetiser before the main course—the Olympic qualifiers to be held at the same venue in January. A total of eight teams will compete and the top three will play in the Paris Games. In terms of ranking, India will be the second best team behind Germany. For India, hosting the event will surely give them an advantage. But nothing can be taken for granted with competitive teams such as Japan, New Zealand and the US in the fray. The Asian Champions Trophy has given them the boost they needed, but they must strive to do better.

QUICK TAKE

MANY OUTFITS FOR ONE INSTITUTE

IIT Kharagpur has issued an exceedingly detailed dress code for its convocation: white cotton sari with narrow golden zari border for girls; white mandarin-collar cotton kurta and white undershirt along with close-toed juti or Kolhapuri chappals for boys. Billowy gowns and hard hats were medieval European regalia meant to be worn in draughty college buildings in cold climes. Today, college dress codes are just pageantry—an unconvincing conformity grasping at a vague sense of antiquity in regional or western clothes. When pressed, administrators at the country's oldest IIT said the uniform was not mandatory. But its specificity belies the claim. One institute, one uniform is just one pompous pretence.

Peace must be seen as a form of knowledge and memory. What we have instead is security and surveillance. Some century-old ideas may resolve the clash

INDIA NEEDS TO IMAGINE A NEW PEACE

SHIV VISVANATHAN

Social scientist associated with the Compost Heap, a group researching alternative imaginations

SOURAV ROY

THE idea of India as a contemporary imagination, as a creative form of life, has withered considerably. One feels that it functions like a majoritarian nation and wants to be immaculate as a developing state. Yet India has almost become autistic in dealing with the Ukraine and Israel-Hamas wars.

India has lost its sense of civilisation, trading heritage like a commodity and reaching rigor mortis as a nation. Our sense of pluralism and diversity is quickly eroding. Concepts such as security have corroded our sense of peace. Peace has become a technocratic issue, not a philosophical and metaphysical one. Between Ajit Doval's idea of internal security and S Jaishankar's foreign policy, all we produce are tutorial college imperatives. Our failure in pacifist imagination is stark, empty and sordid.

One thing that our sense of civilisation needs is our sense of peace. Our vision must be playful, ready to outthink China rather than stumble idiotically before it. A Dalai Lama has a greater sense of laughter when confronting China than a Narendra Modi or a Rajnath Singh mumbling before it. China can eat into our confidence while Tibet can still face it playfully.

Movements such as the Pugwash struggle against nuclear energy must be reworked as moral imaginations. One must confess that major political movements are rare today. The Occupy movement in the US and the Indigenista movement from Brazil are among the few major philosophical exercises. India needs some desperate relearning to save it as a democratic imagination. Our Gandhianism is active in anniversary mothballs, but lacks everyday imagination. Where do we begin?

There are fascinating experiments that need wider publicity and discussion. The Buddhist imagination which has reworked the idea of compassion must be debated. Even Stanford University has initiated a course on compassionate economics. The Dalai Lama has been working with MIT and Harvard to create a truly non-violent science, collaborating with exemplars such as Matthieu Ricard, Francisco Varela and Humberto Maturana. These scientists have sought to creatively link life, livelihood and lifestyle with playful metaphysics.

The Jain religion's attempts to link food and peace also need wider articulation. Gandhi can be revived with a new set of experiments confronting the new truths of our time. India must create a new pedagogy by articulating the poetics of the Anthropocene as part of the metaphysics of peace.

While security, like Malthusianism, can be a dismal science, peace must celebrate life. A Gandhi, a Tutu, a Havel and a Dalai Lama must help restore the life-giving imaginations of peace. Peace cannot be circumscribed as a rigid catechism. It must emerge as an efflorescence of folklore and civil society.

Civil society experiments around peace are critical. We need to rewrite the directive principles of state policy to create a peace constitution that goes beyond the correctness of the Japanese constitution. Such experiments deal not just with war but with memory, violence and the challenge of genocide. A constitution which says no to nuclear energy and yes to the festival of nature in a life-giving sense would be a new beginning. The body would become a site for a new ethical creativity, of an India alert in combating torture and genocide. The everydayness of genocide as an extension of law and order politics has to be subverted. Only new imaginations contesting evil and new acts of courage can challenge the corrosiveness of violence.

We often forget that Indian nationalism was more a theory of pedagogy than of politics. Our great nationalists such as Gandhi, Tagore and Annie Besant dreamt the dreams of childhood. Childhood as Utopia was a prelude to peace. Others such as Maria Montessori, Rudolf Steiner and Jiddu Krishnamurti added to the creativity of childhood as an alternative possibility. One forgets that our first sociologist, Patrick Geddes, theorised on peace by reconstructing knowledge. For Geddes, the architectonics of knowledge and city plans became preludes to a holistic peace. It is time to revive the memory of such experiments.

Peace has its own literary demands, both oral and written. It demands that storytelling matches the theories of peace. Peace is a performance that inspires future action. Yet in a deep way, peace conveys a sense of everydayness. Historian Shahid Amin wrote an obituary of Natalie Davis, noting how historians such as Ginzberg and Davis, by capturing everydayness and ordinary people, sculpted the basis of a living peace.

As it stands, the peace movement needs three virtues to capture and sustain it—compassion, pluralism and a deep sense of dialogue. Peace is a form of life that needs both everyday realism and the poetics of a future myth. Peace cannot be reduced to a technical aspect of game theory, tactically moving battalions and armaments. It is this worldview that we have lost as we squander ourselves in G20 games.

We need to go back to our roots and culture. To create a different peace, copying Henry Kissinger's textbook might give us temporary respite, but peace needs deeper axiomatics, a symbolism and faith rooted in culture. This is why Gandhi, Ramana Maharshi and Ramakrishna went back to the metaphysics of the body. Only a sacramental notion of the body can challenge the banality of genocide and the indifference of obsolescence. Contempt for the body becomes contempt for peace as a possibility.

Finally, peace must be seen as a form of knowledge and memory. Geddes argued that new theories of holistic interdisciplinary knowledge were a preface to peace. Discussing World War I, he argued that modern science should not become a goose-stepping science. What was needed was a post-Germanic science and Geddes suggested that Gandhi and Jagdish Chandra Bose were the first of the post-Germanic incarnations. Post-Germanic science is tuned to soil, energy, civics and childhood. It is this kind of insight that we lost as the nation became a nation state. We must remember it was not just the Battle of Waterloo that was fought on the playing fields of Eton. Peace, too, begins with dreams of play and epistemology. It is this insight that universities have to capture to go beyond the dismal science of security and surveillance that masquerades in place of peace. One has to search for metaphors, new imaginaries, new ethics and new civics to discover the creativity in the relation between the world and peace.

TO GIVE RIGHTS TO INTERSEX PEOPLE, FIRST RECOGNISE THEM

GOPI SHANKAR MADURAI

Regional Representative, National Council for Transgender Persons, GoI, and co-founder of Srishti Madurai and Taiwan-based Intersex Asia

WHILE understanding gender identity and sex characteristics, the first thing to note is that the two are different and cannot be used interchangeably. Gender identity refers to a person's internal and individual experience of gender, which may or may not correspond with the sex assigned at birth. Sex characteristics refer to the chromosomal, gonadal and anatomical features of a person.

Being intersex is a sex characteristic and not a gender identity. Intersex people are born with anatomies that do not fit the binary of male and female. These could be variations in genitals, chromosomes, gonads or sex hormones. An intersex person can be transgender too, but a transgender may not be intersex.

While commoners may allow themselves to be a bit confused about these terms, the government and the law cannot—lives depend on it. It is imperative that the Supreme Court and the Union government recognise the existence of people with intersex traits (including intersex infants and gender non-conforming children), because it is not possible to uphold the civil rights of a person without first recognising them.

The law confuses more than it helps. The Registration of Births and Deaths Act of 1969 does not outline what is male and female. The Constitution mentions the term 'sex' in Article 15, but not 'gender'. So the constitutional usage needs to be interpreted variously to recognise persons with diverse sex characteristics. The biggest paradox here is that even without any legal parameter for identifying males and females, courts and the government have gone on to frame policies on terms such as 'third gender' and 'transgender persons'.

Another big gap is that there are no protocols to regulate medical surgeries that seek to 'normalise' the sex identity of intersex infants and gender non-conforming children. The Madras High Court, in the 2019 case of Arunkumar vs Inspector General of Registration inspired by the advocacy of Srishti Madurai, imposed a ban on unnecessary medical interventions on intersex infants in Tamil Nadu and directed the state to pass an order. So Tamil Nadu became the first state to legally ban sex-selective surgeries on intersex infants. Now a nationwide ban is the need of the hour.

This judgement not only recognised the plight of intersex infants but also upheld inter-caste marriages of transgender and intersex persons. It highlighted marriage rights among gender-variant persons in Hindu traditions such as the Koothandavar temple in Tamil Nadu, where the marriage of Arjuna's son Aravan with Krishna is commemorated. We have at least 36 major Hindu temples whose architecture celebrates diverse sex characteristics.

The jurisprudence on the 'third gender' has led to fallacies. In Nangai vs Superintendent of Police, the Madras High Court relied on the NALSA judgement to treat an intersex person as transgender and granted rights. This reflected ignorance. However, the Delhi High Court in Faizan Siddique vs Sashastra Seema Bal gave the petitioner the post of a female constable that had been denied because of her intersex traits, and was a more progressive ruling than Nangai.

AFP

When Santhi Soundarajan, a female athlete with intersex traits, was stripped of an Asian Games silver after an unscientific 'sex test', the government didn't defend her. Her life went downhill despite making the nation proud

This does not mean that the government and the Supreme Court recognise the existence of intersex persons. Santhi Soundarajan, a female athlete with intersex traits who won 11 international medals, was devastated when she was told that she had failed an unscientific 'sex verification test' after winning a silver medal at the Doha Asian Games. Her medal was taken back and the government didn't defend her. She was compelled for a while to work as a daily wager and even attempted to end her life. There are several other athletes with intersex variations who have suffered unheard, their bodily existence questioned.

This lack of recognition leads to irregularities. The government adopted the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act in 2019. The definition of a 'transgender person' in Section 2(K) of the Act traces its roots to the NALSA case and defines people of non-normative gender identity and expressions and sex characteristics as 'transgender persons'. This definition is not scientifically correct and intersex persons cannot be included under the umbrella term. Even the Central Adoption and Resource Authority (CARA) does not recognise the existence of intersex infants and gender non-conforming children. CARA records the adoption of gender non-conforming children as that of a 'hijra child'.

Not every subject of the state needs to reach the court for recognition. Some of the tribes in the Andaman and Nicobar are not even aware of their rights or status, but they are recognised by the Constitution. As one of the petitioners of the marriage equality case, I am not looking for the hetero-normative society to approve of my relationships. The point is that the recognition of intersex infants and gender non-conforming children should come from the courts or the government suo motu.

Considering the present issues of marriage equality, the Supreme Court's direction to the government to form a high-level committee to address the SOGIESC (sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression and sex characteristics) communities is not sufficient. I have recommended to the government that the current National Council for Transgender Persons formed under the 2019 law with representatives from across the nation should be re-constituted as the National SOGIESC Commission with a broader framework and powers to address grievances.

The government should establish an independent body such as a Centre for SOGIESC Studies for regulatory and advisory functions. Cases concerning the marriage right of people with diverse sex characteristics can be routed via this independent body. The government can pass a separate legislation to provide for the right to marry under the Hindu Marriage Act of 1955 itself. After all, the tradition already allows it.

The severe air pollution in Delhi has become a regular event every winter causing a great deal of human suffering. The neighbouring states are busy passing the buck than making efforts to curb it. The main man-made contributing factor, stubble burning by farmers, needs to be addressed. The central government should take lead and bring along the states for it.

TMC MP says Thursday's meet rescheduled to keep a Cong MP away from proceedings

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AHEAD of the Lok Sabha's Ethics Committee meeting on Thursday, Trinamool Congress leader Mahua Moitra has alleged that the meeting was rescheduled to keep a Congress member away from the proceedings and adopt the report by a majority.

The committee, chaired by BJP MP Vinod Kumar Sonkar, was due to meet on Tuesday to consider and adopt its draft report on the cash-for-query allegations against Moitra leveled by BJP MP Nishikant Dubey and Supreme Court lawyer Jai Anant Dehadrai. However, it has now been postponed to November 9. The committee was probing allegations against Moitra about accepting bribes and favours from business tycoon Darshan Hiranandani to raise questions in Parliament targeting Adani.

Moitra also claimed that the draft report of the committee was not circulated to the members though it is the norm. The BJP leaders were reaching out to allies to ensure their attendance to adopt the report by a majority, she said.

"No draft report circulated as is the norm but will be 'adopted' on November 9. Meeting postponed to clash with the INC MP's nomination date so he can't come. BJP is calling allies to ensure attendance to adopt it by a majority. Chartered flight to fly in MP state president. How scared Adani and Modi are," she wrote on X.

The Trinamool MP was referring to Congress Lok Sabha member Uttam Kumar Reddy, a member of the Ethics Committee, who is contesting the upcoming Telangana state Assembly elections.

Sources said Opposition members, including Congress' Uttam Kumar Reddy, V Vaithilingam and BSP member Kunwar Danish Ali, are expected to submit dissent notes to the committee.

The BJP members are in a majority in the 15-member committee. It was leant that the committee may submit an adverse report against Moitra, who accused Sonkar of asking filthy and personal questions to her in the last meeting. The meeting witnessed stormy scenes after Moitra walked out of the meeting along with Opposition members.

She later wrote to the Lok Sabha Speaker that she was subjected to a "proverbial vastraharan" in the meeting.

Dehadrai says Moitra entered his house

Supreme Court lawyer, Jai Anant Dehadrai, who previously made allegations of bribery against Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra, has written another letter to the police accusing her of unauthorised entry and intimidating his staff. In his letter to the SHO on Tuesday, Dehadrai, stated that Moitra, Member of Parliament (Krishnanagar), came unannounced to his residence at Neeti Bagh, on November 5 at around 11 AM and on November 6 at around 9AM.

Will do everything to stop 'Prabhari' plan: Cong

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AFTER this newspaper broke the story on the Central government nominating senior bureaucrats in various ministries as 'prabhari officers' in states barring the poll-bound ones (See clip), the Congress responded by saying it would pursue all options to end the politicisation of bureaucracy.

On November 6, this newspaper reported that at least 558 officers in the rank of joint secretaries, director, or deputy secretary in various ministries have been nominated as Prabhari Officers in the Viksit Bharat Sankalp Yatra, coordinated by the Department of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare. The senior officers are deployed in states other than the poll-bound states – Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan, Mizoram, Telangana, and Madhya Pradesh. The officers have also been asked to attend an orientation programme on Tuesday to raise awareness of various government schemes. Quoting the report, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh wrote on X: "It is clear that the PM is in no mood to heed to Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge's letter to him on October 22 to keep civil servants and soldiers out of politics. The Congress party will pursue all options to put an end to this completely unacceptable and dangerous practice that degrades and threatens our democracy."

The Congress spokesperson said that though it welcomed the EC's notice on halting the government's plan in election-bound states, the larger issue of the blatant use of officers to implement political propaganda is yet to be addressed.

"While it is welcome that the @ECISVEEP has acted on the complaint of @INCIndia and forced the Modi govt to backtrack on sending senior bureaucrats as 'Rath Prabharis' to poll-bound states, the larger issue of the blatant use of officers for what is essentially a program to implement one-man's personal political propaganda remains," said the leader.

After a massive political row across the country erupted over an October 17 government order deputing public servants as 'rath prabharis', the EC directed the Centre it cannot be implemented in all the five election-bound states.

After EC notice, Central govt notifies 'prabharis' for non-poll bound states

Officials to be sent to states where Model Code of Conduct will not come into force this year

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

DAYS after a political row erupted over a 'rath prabhari' circular, the Centre has issued a notification nominating civil servants in various ministries as 'prabharis' (special officers) in states barring the ones that are going to polls this month

SPECIAL OFFICERS

- At least 43 officers in various ranks have been deputed from each ministry to coordinate the preparations, planning, and execution of the programme
- The officers have been given charge of at least two

In a notification on November 3, the Centre nominated officers in the rank of joint secretaries/director/deputy secretary level in various ministries as Prabhari Officers in connection with the Viksit Bharat Sankalp Yatra, coordinated by the Department of Agriculture the notice of the Commission that a letter has been circulated to the Ministries for the nomination of senior officers as "District Rath Prabaris" as special officers for the proposed 'Viksit Bharat Sankalp Yatra' starting from 20th November 2023," it said.

Cong may move EC, says PM has violated model code

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

THE Congress may approach the Election Commission (EC) alleging violation of model code of conduct by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement to extend the free ration scheme for next five years – during an election campaign in Chhattisgarh.

The party may move the poll panel soon, said sources. During a campaign last week, Modi announced the extension of Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana (PMGKAY) scheme, which was to end on December 31. Now, it will continue till December 2028.

In a social media post on Tuesday, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh said that the PM announced the extension of the scheme before getting the approval of the Union Cabinet. "A desperate Prime Minister announced a five-year extension of the PM Garib Kalyan Yojana in the midst of the Chhattisgarh election campaign. This is a blatant violation of the Model Code of Conduct. Will the EC take note and act?"

"Now, it turns out that the Union Cabinet has not yet approved the extension. Actually, it is not surprising since this is how Modi functions. The Cabinet is a non-entity. First his announcement, then Cabinet approval. Recall, November 8 2016?" Ramesh said.

Reminding the PM that the National Food Security Act (NFSA) was passed by Parliament in 2013 during the UPA government, Ramesh pointed out that the PMGKY is nothing but the NFSA) that already covered 80 crore Indians. "In any case, the PMGKAY is itself a rebranded and repackaged National Food Security Act, 2013 that as CM Modi had aggressively opposed," he said.

Not only Delhi-NCR, order on firecracker applies to all states: SC

JAISON WILSON @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday reiterated its regulations, across the country, against the banned chemicals in firecrackers at a time when the national capital reeling under extreme air pollution, saying polluting the environment during celebration is all about being "selfish" and it is for all to manage air and sound pollution.

A bench of Justice A S Bopanna and Justice M M Sundresh remarked that when it comes to environmental protection, there is a wrong perception that it is only the duty of the judiciary.

The top court said it had passed several orders on the issue earlier in relation to the steps to minimize and avoid air as well as noise pollution while hearing a plea by Rajasthan seeking directions regarding a ban on barium crackers during the festive season.

It was clarified by the bench that the earlier orders in the matter "will bind every state in the country, including the state of Rajasthan."

The bench also took note that Rajasthan is all set for an election season.

"Therefore, we make it clear that the state of Rajasthan would also take note of this and take all steps to minimise air and noise pollution, not only during the festival season but even thereafter" the top court bench asserted.

The bench also observed that "sensitising" people is the key to the issue. The same bench, in September, had rejected petitions seeking permission for the manufacture and sale of firecrackers containing barium and joint fireworks. It asked the Centre to direct Delhi Police not to issue licences for the cracker sale in the city, remarking that imposition of the ban by the government meant a "complete ban."

A bench of Justices AS Bopanna and MM Sundresh said it has reiterated its 2018 ban and directions on bursting of conventional firecrackers to curb pollution. The bench refused to interfere with the Delhi government's decision to ban firecrackers in GNCTD ahead of the Diwali festival.

In 2020, the National Green Tribunal (NGT) had banned the sale of all types of firecrackers in any district with AQI of 201 or more.

Pvt FM channels may be allowed to air news content

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

THE Ministry of Information and Broadcasting (I&B) has started working on a proposal allowing private FM radio channels to broadcast news, which will soon be forwarded to the Cabinet for final approval. Senior officials, privy to the matter, said that the ministry had accepted the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India's (TRAI's) recommendations pertaining to news and current affairs programmes on FM radios, and a proposal is being sent to the Cabinet for a decision.

"There exists a provision for news on FM channels. They could run only All India Radio (AIR) news content as it is. Because of this, there were some issues. Some channels were not in agreement. So, the ministry has sought suggestions from TRAI, which has already given its recommendations to allow news on FM radios," said an official. According to them, the proposal may be taken up by the Cabinet in the coming winter session of the Parliament.

There are nearly 400 private FM radio channels functioning in India. The ministry in May last year sought recommendations of the Authority on various subjects related to FM radio operations. The body held a meeting with representatives of the Association of Radio Operators for India (AROI) subsequently. Permission for private FM Radio channels to broadcast independent news bulletins along with other issues came up during the discussion. Later, a consultation paper was issued to seek comments from stakeholders on the issues related to FM Radio Broadcasting. After considering feedback, the Authority finalised its recommendations, which were released in September.

"Private FM Radio operators should be allowed to broadcast news and current affairs programmes limited to 10 minutes in each clock hour…The programme code of conduct, as applicable to AIR for news content, may also be applied to private FM channels," read the recommendations.

The Authority also suggested that functions or features pertaining to FM radio should remain enabled and activated on all mobile handsets having the necessary hardware.

TRAI has made several recommendations related to FM radio broadcasting. Private FM radio operators may be allowed to broadcast news and current affairs programmes for up to 10 minutes per hour, with the removal of the one-time entry fee and an extension of the FM licence period. The annual licence fee should be based on 4 per cent of gross revenue, excluding GST.

The government should provide support to FM radio operators affected by the pandemic. FM radio features must be enabled on mobile handsets, and a committee should oversee compliance by manufacturers.

The Supreme Court on Tuesday said it is 'troublesome' that the Centre is selectively picking, choosing and appointing judges, who were recommended by the collegium for appointment to higher judiciary. A bench of justices Sanjay Kishan Kaul and Sudhanshu Dhulia expressed its concern over the pendency of names recommended for transfer from one HC to another. ADITYA-L1 CAPTURES FIRST GLIMPSE OF SOLAR FLARES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ADITYA-L1, India's maiden mission to the Sun, has captured the first high-energy X-ray glimpse of solar flares, the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) announced on Tuesday.

"During its first observation period from approximately 12:00 to 22:00 UT on October 29, 2023, the High Energy L1 Orbiting X-ray Spectrometer (HEL1OS) on board Aditya-L1 has recorded the impulsive phase of solar flares. The recorded data is consistent with the X-ray light curves provided by NOAA's GOES," said the space agency on platform X.

This feat was achieved by the payload onboard Adiya-L1 High-Energy L1 Orbiting X-ray Spectrometer (HEL1OS), which was developed by ISRO's Space Astronomy Group of the UR Rao Satellite Centre in Bengaluru. The payload was commissioned on October 27, and has been monitoring the Sun for hard X-ray activities ever since.

A solar flare is a sudden brightening of the solar atmosphere, which involves 1027 – 1032 ergs of energy release in tens of minutes. Flares produce enhanced emission in all wavelengths across the electromagnetic spectrum – radio, optical, UV, soft X-rays, hard X-rays and gamma-rays.

According to scientists, studying solar flares can be crucial to understanding how they affect the Earth. These flares can reportedly have an impact on communication systems, radios and power systems in general.

In a statement, ISRO explained, "Though solar flares have been studied in X-rays and gamma-rays for decades, the initial impulsive emission is very difficult to characterise and understand. The impulsive hard X-ray emission has multiple spectral components which are highly time variable. Further, the spectrum is very steep, the emission above 20 keV is typically several orders of magnitude (about a million times) lower than that of the emission below 10 keV."

Scientists said HEL1OS aims to overcome these difficulties by having a set of detectors specifically tuned to cater to different energy ranges and also provides very high spectral and time resolution measurements. Currently, the instrument is set to monitor the Sun's high-energy X-ray activity with fast timing and high-resolution spectra.

The mission was launched on September 2, 2023, from the Satish Dhawan Space Centre (SDSC) in Sriharikota.

'2 Aussie univs to start ops in Gujarat from 2024'

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

UNION Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Tuesday announced that two Australian universities will be starting their operations at Gujarat's GIFT city from next academic year.

The two Australian universities that are coming up in Gujarat's GIFT city (Gujarat International Finance Tec City) are Deakin University and University of Wollongong. A third Australian university, Western Sydney University, is also planning to set up its campus soon. On the occasion, Pradhan said, "Foreign university campuses at home will facilitate study in India in line with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020."

He said that students and faculties from different parts of the world will collaborate, learn, and grow together. "This transformative policy emphasizes 'Internationalisation at Home', aiming to create a vibrant, diverse, and inclusive educational environment within our own country," he said.

"Australia and India are committed to promote research for mutual prosperity and global well-being," he said.

Announcing about the two Australian universities, Pradhan in X, formerly Twitter, posted, "Bringing world-class learning opportunities at Bharat's door step."

He added that the formal announcement of the opening of the campus of two credible Australian universities is a giant leap towards internationalisation of India's education. "A vibrant campus of these two universities in Gujarat is a GIFT to student community."

Australian Education Minister, Jason Clare, who is visiting India for the second time this year, and has come with a delegation of six vice-chancellors, in X, posted that Deakin and UOW are the first international universities to be approved to set up a standalone campus in India.

"International education is not just a one way street. It's not just about students coming to Australia, it's about Australian universities going to them."

Clare, who alongwith Pradhan, visited the construction work, also posted that the two universities will start teaching next year.

"This highlights the regard with which our universities are held and the strength of the relationship between our two great countries."

The Vice-Chancellor's of the two universities at the event stressed the importance of country-to-country partnerships, highlighting the significant growth in bilateral relations between India and Australia, even during challenging times such as the COVID-19 pandemic.

■ Brisk polling reported in 20 constituencies in Bastar region ■ Minor glitches in EVMs in single-phase voting in northeastern state

C'garh 1st phase polling in Maoist hotbed peaceful

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

THE first phase of elections for the 20 Assembly constituencies of Chhattisgarh witnessed moderate to heavy polling with over 72% voter turnout on Tuesday. The improved security situation and the addition of 126 new polling stations in the Maoist-affected Bastar division ensured free and peaceful polling but couldn't surpass the 76.28% turnout witnessed during the first phase of the 2018 assembly polls.

Polling centres across the 20 constituencies witnessed long queues of voters since morning, defying the Maoist diktat on the poll boycott. Interestingly, the registered women voters (20,84,675) outnumbered men (19,93,937) in the 20 seats.

Voting was held from 7 am to 3 pm under heightened security arrangements in 10 Maoist-affected assembly segments while in the remaining 10 seats the voters exercised their franchise from 8 am to 5 pm.

"The figures are not final and might rise further as inputs from the remotely located polling stations are yet to come", said an official in the chief electoral office of the EC. The polling percentage usually increases a little after the entire polling parties return and the figures from electronic voting machines are statistically calibrated, poll officials said.

The Election Commission said the new polling stations removed the hardships faced by voters who had to endure long treks to reach the booths covering dense forests, hills, and rivers and braving the threats of the Maoists to cast their votes.

Among the assembly seats recording a low turnout included Bijapur (41%), Konta/Sukma (50%) and Dantewada (63%). The constituencies of Kanker, Bahuprataput, Khairagarh, Dongargarh and Kondagaon recorded high voting figures of 76%. The fate of 223 candidates was sealed in the first phase of polling. There were over 40 lakh voters and 5,304 polling booths in the first phase.

The polling saw sporadic incidents of Maoist violence. There were reports of an exchange of fire between the security forces and the Maoists at Narayanpur, Tadmetla (Sukma), Banda (Sukma), Pakhanjur (Kanker). Rebels triggered an IED blast at Konta injuring a jawan. A civilian sustained a bullet injury in a crossfire at Pakhanjur where the forces recovered an AK-47 from the encounter site.

The second phase of polling for the remaining 70 seats is due on November 17.

Brisk polling for 3-corner battle in 40 Mizoram seats

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

NEARLY 70% voter turnout was recorded in the single-phase Mizoram elections on Tuesday. "The voter turnout at 3 pm for is 69.64% and there is no report of any untoward incident," said the office of the state's chief electoral officer said in a statement.

The polling continued till 4 pm, and the final voting percentage is set to go up. The state, currently ruled by Mizo National Front (MNF), has 40 seats.

A festive mood prevailed with people coming out in large numbers to vote. The excitement was more among the first-time voters.

Chief Minister Zoramthanga, who is a voter at Aizawl North II (ST) Assembly constituency, had gone out early to vote at the Ramhlun Venglai II polling station located at Government Primary School in Aizawl, but could not do so due to a "minor technical glitch" in the EVM.

"There was no need for the replacement of the EVM, and the CM later visited the polling station to cast his vote," said an official statement.

The 79-year-old Zoramthanga, who is a former rebel leader-turned-politician and an MNF veteran, is contesting from the Aizawl East-1 seat for a record seventh time.

State Congress chief Lalsawta voted in his Aizawl West-III constituency.

There was a slight delay in the conduct of polling in some polling stations as EVMs malfunctioned. However, the officials quickly replaced them and the polling passed off smoothly.

A triangular contest is expected among MNF, Zoram People's Movement (ZPM) and Congress. They are contesting all 40 seats, followed by BJP 23, Aam Aadmi Party four and 27 independents. Altogether 174 candidates, including 16 women, are contesting.

In the 2018 polls, the MNF had ousted Congress from power by winning 26 seats. The ZPM is expected to throw up a tough challenge to MNF this time around.

Zoramthanga is optimistic about MNF retaining power. "We are confident of forming the next government on our own," he told reporters.

The Congress chief and ZPM's chief ministerial candidate Lalduhoma were equally confident about forming the government.

Elections are usually a low-key affair in the landlocked state where the Mizoram People's Forum, a church-sponsored poll watchdog, keeps a hawk's eye on the activities of voters as well as political parties.

Ever since it was formed in 2006, it signs a memorandum of understanding with all political parties ahead of elections and issues dos and don'ts for them.

V-C appointment row in Jadavpur univ continues

The state higher education department recently prevented Jadavpur University from holding the meeting of its executive council on the grounds that the university did not have a "regular Vice-Chancellor". The department said holding any meeting in the absence of a regular V-C would violate rules. The university had convened an online meeting of its highest decision-making body. An official of the higher education department said the government has reservations against Budhhadeb Sau, the JU professor of mathematics, who was handpicked by Governor C V Ananda Bose in August for the top post.

Trouble in IIT Kharagpur over admission process

The IIT Kharagpur teachers have written to the institute's director, seeking an immediate meeting to discuss the present impasse over the suspension of admission to the Ph.D. and Master of Science programme owing to absence accommodation facilities and the resultant effect it will have on the research activities. The letter by the teachers' association addressed to the director V K Tewari says the members are deeply aggrieved about the sudden stoppage of the admission process. It said they wanted an immediate meeting to find a constructive solution to the present impasse.

Vidyasagar Setu bridge to remain vehicle-free

Goods vehicles will be off Vidyasagar Setu—the second Hooghly bridge—for eight months to facilitate repair of the cable-stayed structure. Some of the cables and bearings of the bridge will be replaced as part of the repair job, the first such overhaul since it was inaugurated on October 10, 1992. There are three lanes on each of the two flanks of the bridge, one for Howrah-bound vehicles and the other for the ones travelling towards Kolkata. Spanning 823 m, Vidyasagar Setu is the longest cable-stayed bridge in India. Engineers from two companies—Freeman Fox and Partners and Bharat Bhari Udyog Nigam Limited—supervised the construction of the bridge.

Nine injured as fresh violence rocks Manipur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

IN a fresh bout of violence in strife-torn Manipur, the Indigenous Tribal Leaders' Forum (ITLF) allegedly fired upon a Meitei group on Tuesday, leaving at least nine people injured.

Among the injured were two policemen and a woman, all of whom were subsequently admitted to two hospitals in Imphal. The incident took place in Kangchup, located on the border of Kangpokpi and Imphal West districts.

The ITLF reported that the firing incident was in response to the alleged abduction of four Kuki-Zo tribals, including two women, by a Meitei group earlier that day. It claimed that these individuals were abducted near Kangchup Chingkhong village in Kangpokpi district.

Enraged tribal volunteers on the frontlines engaged in a firefight with the Meitei group, resulting in several injuries among the Meitei community, the ITLF's statement read.

Don't fall prey to BJP's false promises, cast your votes carefully: Priyanka

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

DURING a rally in Balod, Chhattisgarh, Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi on Tuesday emphasised the significance of every vote in shaping the state's future. She urged voters to evaluate whether their state had prospered or faltered under the Congress regime, highlighting past issues of violence, misrule, and poverty during BJP rule. Priyanka advocated for a caste-based census, offering equal opportunities and representation, despite resistance from PM Modi and the BJP.

She criticised the BJP for making promises but failing to deliver on job creation, increased farmer incomes, and job institutions' preservation. She pointed out that while the BJP criticises Congress's 70-year record, the BJP-led Centre has either dismantled past achievements or favoured corporate interests. She challenged claims that the Centre purchased over 80% of Chhattisgarh's paddy and questioned the low rates offered to paddy growers in Varanasi which is the PM's constituency.

Priyanka reaffirmed Congress's commitment to people's rights, including education, employment (MGNREGA), information, food, and tribal rights. She contrasted this with the Centre diverting funds to corporate interests, while the Congress government injected Rs 1.75 lakh crore into the people's pockets over five years.

Priyanka also praised the empowerment of women's self-help groups under the Bhupesh government's flagship Gauthan program and emphasised the importance of women's understanding and responsibility in shaping the state's future.

Modi targets Cong in tribal heartlands of MP & C'garh

EJAZ KAISER & ANURAAG SINGH @Raipur/Bhopal

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday accused the Congress of ignoring the tribal legacy and depriving them of development and claimed that the BJP met the aspirations of the poor.

Speaking at a 'Vijay Sankalp' rally in the tribal turf of Surajpur in north Chhattisgarh's Sarguja division, he said that his government has increased the budgetary allocation by five-fold for the welfare of the tribal communities.

There are 29 ST reserved seats in the 90-member House.

Citing the Congress slogan of 'Garibi Hatao' as hollow, he reiterated his decision to extend the free ration scheme given to 80 crore poor Indians for another five years as 'Modi Guarantee' throughout the country. He also mentioned the inauguration of Ram Mandir as fulfilment of Modi's guarantee. In neighbouring Madhya Pradesh, the PM accused the Congress of hating the Dalits.

Addressing an election rally in Sidhi district of Vindhya region, he said, "You all must have read in the newspaper about a Dalit from Rajasthan, having become the country's CIC for the first time ever. I cancelled my election tour to attend the meeting convened to select the new CIC. And what did the Congress do despite having been invited and informed about the meeting in advance? They boycotted it on coming to know that a Dalit was being selected as the CIC," Modi said. The BJP won 24 out of 30 seats in the Vindhya region in 2018 assembly polls.

Maha rift over Maratha quota widens as Shinde raps minister's 'snide' remark

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Eknath Shinde has expressed his displeasure regarding the recent controversy surrounding Maratha-Kunbi-OBC reservations, created by his government alliance partner, NCP (Ajit Pawar) Minister Chhagan Bhujbal.

Shinde strongly reprimanded Bhujbal, emphasising the need to avoid confusion among OBC and other castes when it comes to reservations. He reminded everyone that in an all-party leaders meeting, it was unanimously decided to grant separate reservations to Marathas without affecting the existing OBC reservations. "In the OBC community meeting, deputy chief minister Devendra Fadnavis and another DCM Ajit Pawar were also present when it was assured that without disturbing the existing OBC quota, Marathas will be given the separate reservations. Therefore, no one should try to cause confusion among OBC and other communities.

The justice Sandeep Shinde committee has been scrutinizing the Maratha-Kunbi genealogical references and revenue records of the Nizam era while the Maratha reservation issue will be resolved by filing curative petition in the Supreme Court," Shinde explained.

Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis and DCM Ajit Pawar were present during the OBC community meeting where it was explicitly assured that Marathas would receive separate reservations without disrupting the existing OBC quota. Shinde further clarified that the Justice Sandeep Shinde committee was diligently examining the Maratha-Kunbi genealogical references and revenue records from the Nizam era, and the Maratha reservation issue would be addressed by filing a curative petition in the Supreme Court.

Minister Chhagan Bhujbal's recent meeting with OBC leaders voiced concerns that the government might be attempting to include Maratha-Kunbi within the OBC category through the back door. Bhujbal argued against this, claiming that the inclusion of Marathas would disproportionately affect smaller OBC communities.

Grant separate reservations to Marathas

Shinde emphasisied the need to avoid confusion among OBC and other castes when it comes to reservations. He reminded everyone that in an all-party leaders meeting, it was unanimously decided to grant separate reservations to Marathas without affecting the existing OBC reservations.

Doon's Kabul House story: Partition then, eviction now

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

FOR 84-year-old Shanti Devi, a witness to the Partition horror, it is a moment to travel back in time. The Dehradun district administration has ordered the evacuation of 17 families, including Shanti Devi's, from Kabul House, where she has been living for 75 years.

Located in a posh area of the state capital Dehradun, the Kabul House has now been declared as an "enemy property" by the government.

The property is also known as Kapyong House and still remains the residence of the members of the royal family of Afghanistan. The Enemy Property Act, 1968 is an Act of the Parliament of India, which enables and regulates the appropriation of property in India owned by Pakistani nationals.

"Two weeks ago, the Dehradun District Magistrate Court issued orders asking us to vacate Kabul House in 15 days," said an occupant of Kabul House. The 40-year legal battle between district officials and residents came to an end last week with the authorities asking the residents to vacate their homes. Their homes are supposed to be sealed.

The 17 families being evacuated have got temporary relief from the Nainital High Court, which has given them time till December 1. The residents are unsure about where they will go in the harsh winter.

However, the story of Shanti Devi is touching. Born on May 31, 1939, Shanti Devi (she remembers her date of birth) was only eight years old when her family members were killed by rioters in front of her during the Partition riots.

"There was a large residential area in Nowshera Cantt of Peshawar in Pakistan where we lived. As soon as the riots started, armed mobs reached there, reassuring us that we would not be harmed. That was a lie. As soon as we got out, they started stabbing everyone. I was 8 years old and I was holding my mother's hand, rioters stabbed my mother to death in front of me," recalled Shanti.

The family of Sanjay Chauhan of Valmiki Samaj, who has been living in Kabul House for a century, faces a dilemma. A month later, Chauhan's daughter Pooja is to get married, but on November 30, the entire family will be rendered homeless. "The administration and police have sealed the rooms of our house," says Sanjay, adding "we have also given advance money to a tent house and caterers for the wedding."

Bina Kumari, a retired employee of the regional employment office, says, "The eviction notice was handed out at a time when the festival season began. The residents could not even go to a court," says Bina.

Harrowing journey for civilians fleeing North Gaza

Some said they raised their hands and waved white flags to move past the Israeli tanks

BUREIJ REFUGEE CAMP

WHAT was once Gaza's busiest thoroughfare has become a terrifying escape route for Palestinian civilians fleeing combat on foot or on donkey carts. On their way south, those running for their lives said they raised their hands and waved white flags to move past Israeli tanks along the four-lane highway. Some reported Israeli soldiers firing at them and said they passed bodies strewn alongside the road.

Many escaped with just the clothes on their back. One woman, covered head-to-toe in a black veil and robe, cradled a toddler and clutched a black purse. A man walked alongside a covered donkey cart that transported his family. It was piled high with mattresses.

In north of the Gaza Strip, Israeli ground forces backed by relentless airstrikes have encircled Gaza City, the base of Hamas ' power, since the weekend. They cut the strip in half and sought to drive Palestinians from northern Gaza as troops advanced.

From early on in the war, now in its second month, the army has urged civilians to move south, including by announcing brief windows for what it said would be safe passage through Salah al-Din, which runs through the center of the besieged enclave. But thousands have remained in north, many sheltering in hospitals. Those who have stayed put say they are deterred by overcrowding in the south, along with dwindling water and food supplies, and continued Israeli airstrikes in what are supposed to be safe areas. Some said fear of the treacherous journey, following reports from other travelers about coming under fire, initially made them hesitate.

On Monday, Health Ministry in Gaza spokesperson Ashraf al-Qidra dismissed the Israeli offers of safe passage as "nothing but death corridors." He said bodies have lined the road for days, and called for the International Committee of the Red Cross to accompany local ambulances to retrieve the dead. Israel's military said that, at one point, troops came under Hamas fire when trying to open the road temporarily for civilians. Israel's PM Benjamin Netanyahu echoed army's claims in an interview

"We are fighting an enemy that is particularly brutal. They are using their civilians as human shields, and while we are asking the Palestinian civilian population to leave the war zone, they are preventing them at gunpoint," he said.

Cyprus plans for a sea route to deliver aid to Gaza

NICOSIA

CYPRUS will present its plan for a humanitarian sea corridor to Gaza when the Cypriot president meets other EU heads of state in Paris at an international donor conference for the besieged Palestinian enclave on Nov. 9, an official said Tuesday.

Government spokesman Constantinos Letymbiotis told reporters the initiative to ship aid from the eastern Mediterranean island will be discussed at length during the conference, which will also seek to address Gaza's pressing needs including water, electricity and fuel supply.

Last week, senior U.N. officials said the average Palestinian in Gaza was living on two pieces of bread a day, while only one of three water supply lines from Israel was operational. More than 1.5 million Palestinians have been displaced in Gaza by the Israeli offensive launched in the wake of Oct. 7, when Hamas attacked Israel, killing 1,400 people.

President Nikos Christodoulides said Tuesday the initiative aims for a "sustained, secure high-volume flow of humanitarian assistance to Gaza in the immediate, medium and long term." Ships would deliver the aid to Gaza from Cyprus' main port of Limassol, some 410 km away. Christodoulides said his government is working with neighboring countries including Israel, Egypt, Jordan and the Palestinian Authority as well as the US, France, the EU and the UN to set the initiative in motion. To address Israeli security concerns, the aid would be inspected at its departure point to ensure nothing is delivered that Hamas, which runs Gaza, could weaponize in its war with Israel. Hamas is on the EU and US lists of terrorist organisations.

REPORT

98% of China's aid to Pak is in the form of less-than-generous loans

KARACHI

AS much as 98% of China's development funding for its all-weather ally Pakistan came in the form of 'less-than-generous loans,' with only 2% coming in form of grants between 2000 and 2021, according to a research report.

The China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC), a global infrastructure and investment initiative by Beijing, was launched in 2013. It is thought to be the largest partnership of China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI).

It increased to over $62 billion over time, and at least $25 billion was invested in cash-strapped Pakistan.

''Out of the total Chinese development finance portfolio of $70.3 billion, committed between 2000 and 2021 in Pakistan, 8% was official development assistance (grants and highly concessional loans) and 89% was other official sector loans," said a report in The News International, quoting AidData, a US-based research lab.

With $14.0 billion in finance commitments, 2017 was the top year for Pakistan; following a decline in 2018, the amount increased again in 2019 and 2020, even with the pandemic. With a 9.84-year maturity and a 3.74-year grace period, the average interest rate on loans is 3.72%, the AidData said. Stating that "Pakistan and China have a long history of economic collaboration, and this year marks ten years of such ties and it has helped Pakistan through all of its tough economic downturns and crises," the report pointed out that "(But) it's worrying that Chinese less-than-generous loans coupled with Pakistan's mismanagement have made Pakistan's debt load even higher."

It's worrying that Chinese less-than-generous loans coupled with Pakistan's mismanagement have made Pakistan's debt load even higher

AidData, research lab

AidData estimates that Pakistan's outstanding public and publicly guaranteed debt to China stands at $67.22 billion, which is 19.6% of the GDP, and $21.2 billion more than what Pakistan has officially reported to the World Bank's Debtor Reporting System, the media report said. PTI

Pak's PPP to face alliance of PML-N & MQM in Feb polls

LAHORE

IN a surprise development, Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz and Karachi-based Muttahida Qaumi Movement on Tuesday announced an electoral alliance to contest the general elections against Bhuttos' Pakistan People's Party in the Sindh province.

Both the PML-N and MQM leadership after their meeting in Lahore on Tuesday announced that they would jointly contest the February 8, 2024 general elections. Former prime minister Nawaz Sharif-led PML-N needs the MQM, which has a strong base in the Karachi and Hyderabad districts of Sindh, to give a tough time to the PPP in the province, a stronghold of Bhuttos.

Both the PML-N and PPP were allies in the previous PDM (Pakistan Democratic Movement) coalition government in which Shehbaz Sharif was the prime minister. But, since the incumbent military establishment reportedly struck a deal with PML-N supremo Nawaz regarding bringing his party into power after the February polls, the relations soured between the two main political parties that have been repeatedly in power when the powerful military was not ruling the country. There are also reports that the military establishment doesn't want the PPP to form a government in Sindh which has long been its stronghold. In the wake of this, the PML-N has been given the go-ahead to form a grand alliance in Sindh to beat the PPP.

The other two main parties—GDA (Grand Democratic Alliance of Pir Pagaro) and JUI-F of Maulana Fazlur Rehman —have already announced joining the Sharifs of PML-N. To counter the PML-N move, the PPP is exploring ways to go into electoral alliance with jailed former prime minister Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI).

Since the PTI is facing the ire of the military for allegedly attacking the army installations in early May it is not being allowed to hold political activities in the country. PTI

Britain's health service NHS rolls out breast cancer prevention pill

LONDON

THOUSANDS of women at increased risk of breast cancer are set to benefit from a risk-reducing drug to be offered by Britain's National Health Service (NHS) after it was licensed for use to help prevent the disease, the state-funded health service said on Tuesday.

Anastrozole, which has been used for many years as a breast cancer treatment, has today been licensed by the UK's Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) as a preventive option which it is hoped could help prevent thousands of breast cancer cases in England. The drug, which is off-patent, has been shown in trials to reduce the incidence of the disease in post-menopausal women at increased risk of disease by almost 50%.

"Breast cancer is the most common cancer in the UK, so I'm delighted that another effective drug to help to prevent this cruel disease has now been approved," said UK Health Minister Will Quince.

"We've already seen the positive effect Anastrozole can have in treating the disease when it has been detected in postmenopausal women and now we can use it to stop it developing at all in some women. This is a great example of NHS England's innovative Medicines Repurposing Programme supporting the development of new ways for NHS patients to benefit from existing treatments," he said.

Around 289,000 women at moderate or high risk of breast cancer could be eligible for the drug. PTI

Car-lite policy reduces car ownership

Singapore has witnessed a decline in car owners, with approximately one-third of households owning automobiles in the city-state, down from 40% in 2013, as the government progresses towards transforming the country into a car-lite society, a senior minister said on Monday. The government also aims to have 75% of peak-period journeys made on public transport by 2030, via the expansion of the MRT (Mass Rapid Transit) network, up from current 64%. Singapore's population is 5.92 million and the main economically prosperous city island is 710 sq km.

Govt directs social media cos against hosting deepfakes

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AFTER the outrage over use of actor Rashmika Mandanna's deepfake, the government on Tuesday issued an advisory to all major social media companies in India against hosting contents that impersonate another person, and to promptly remove such content within 36 hours of receiving complaints.

The advisory asked the social media platforms to strictly follow India's Information Technology Act of 2000.

The government's action followed the viral spread of a deepfake video featuring Mandanna on social media platforms. As the video went viral, many people, including Bollywood veteran Amitabh Bachchan, sought legal action against those responsible for the criminal act.

Minister of State Rajeev Chandrasekhar, on Tuesday assured that the government is committed to ensuring the safety and trust of all digital citizens using the internet. He emphasized that it is a legal obligation for platforms to prevent the posting of misinformation by any user and to ensure that when reported by any user or the government, misinformation is removed within 36 hours. "If platforms do not comply with this, rule 7 will apply, and platforms can be taken to court by aggrieved individuals under the provisions of the IPC," said Chandrasekhar.

As per the IT Act of 2000 (Rule 3(1)(b)(vii)), social media intermediaries are required to observe due diligence, which includes ensuring that the rules and regulations, privacy policy, or user agreement of the intermediary inform users not to host any content that impersonates another person.

The rule specifies, 'Intermediaries shall, within 24 hours from the receipt of a complaint regarding any content in the nature of impersonation in an electronic form, including artificially morphed images of individuals, take all necessary measures to remove or disable access to such content.'

Borrowings mainly for personal-use products, less for big-ticket buys

Fintech lending to youth rises 100 times in 2015-21

Tech-tonic shift

- Fintech NBFC lending to young borrowers has increased 100 times between 2015 and 2021
- NBFCs and Fintech lenders together account for nearly 70% of the lending to below the 35 age group segment
- Young borrowers are primarily borrowing for personal-use products and less for big ticket purchases
- The share of digital lending to overall lending was 60.53% for NBFCs as opposed to a smaller 5.53% for banks in FY 2020
- A 10% increase in UPI transactions per capita is associated with a 4.6% increase FinTech lending per capita

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

LARGE-scale increase in the use of smartphones among the urban youth has led FinTech lenders to aggressively lend to young borrowers (below 35).

As per a report by the Centre for Advanced Financial Research and Learning (CAFRAL), an RBI affiliate, fintech NBFC lending to young borrowers has increased 100 times between 2015 and 2021.

The report titled – India Finance Report – says NBFCs and fintech lenders together account for 70% of the lending to below the 35 age group segment. Young borrowers are mainly borrowing for personal-use products and less for big ticket purchases, says the report.

With a lack of credit history and credit scores, young borrowers find it difficult to access credit from traditional banking system, and therefore, fintech NBFCs have emerged as preferred source of borrowing, especially small-ticket loans among young borrowers.

"NBFCs have been at the forefront of digital lending with banks playing a smaller role. Data on a sample of banks and NBFCs shows the share of digital lending to overall lending was 60.53% for NBFCs as opposed to a smaller 5.53% for banks in FY20. This growth is noteworthy considering the proportion of digital lending in banks and NBFCs was merely 0.33% and 0.53%, respectively, in 2016," says the report.

Within NBFCs, fintech lenders have captured a substantial share of the consumer and retail market. As per the report, the rapid expansion in fintech lending has led to the birth of a number of fintech start-ups. Of the 14,000 newly founded start-ups from 2016 to 2021, close to half belonged to tech industry.

The RBI predicts fintech lending to exceed traditional bank lending by 2030. The report attribute the pickup in tech lending in India to the introduction of UPI, which it says has enabled an almost-universal system of digital payments and eased many logistical and geographical barriers to credit flow.

NOT SELLING VOLTAS: TATA GROUP

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA GROUP is not selling Voltas brand and said their home appliances business continues to outperform the market.

Tata's clarification comes amid a report which said that the Mumbai-based conglomerate is trying to sell Voltas due to challenges in the competitive market.

According to Bloomberg, Tata is currently discussing the deal with other market players and the future of their joint venture with Europe's Arcelik AS is also not clear yet.

"In this connection, we wish to categorically state that the aforesaid news is totally incorrect and blatantly false, with no factual basis whatsoever. The Management therefore denies any such development," said Voltas in a clarification note to the exchanges,

It added that the company is a market leader in room Air Conditioners and its joint venture with Arcelik for Voltas.Beko Products is one of the fastest-growing brands in the Appliances business.

"The organisation continues to outperform the market, and exceed revenue targets in all its product categories. Voltas reaffirms its commitment to the home appliances business, and the company will strengthen its market leading position in the categories that it represents," said the company. Voltas competes with a large number of brands that are engaged in manufacturing and selling of products such as air conditioners, air coolers, refrigerators, washing machines, and dishwashers.

IMF UPGRADES 2023, 2024 GDP GROWTH FORECASTS

The economy of China is expected to grow at 5.4% this year on the back of "strong" post-COVID recovery, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) said on Tuesday (November 7), making an upward revision to its earlier forecast of 5% growth, while expecting slower growth next year. IMF's First Deputy Managing Director Gita Gopinath said continued weakness in the property sector and subdued external demand could restrict gross domestic product (GDP) growth of the country to 4.6% in 2024, which is still better than the 4.2% forecast in its World Economic Outlook (WEO), published in October. A decision by China to approve a 1 trillion yuan ($137 billion) sovereign bond issue and allow local governments to frontload part of their 2024 bond quotas, in a move to support the economy have helped in upgrade its growth forecast. Downturn in the property sector and local government debt crunch could wipe out much of China's long-term growth potential, economists say.

JAPAN

HOUSEHOLD SPENDING DOWN FOR 7TH MONTH IN SEPT

Household spending in Japan declined 2.8% in September from a year earlier for the seventh consecutive monthly fall. This is because people cut back spending on food and other items amid rising prices while real wages continue to slide, government data showed Tuesday. According to Japan's Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications, households of two or more people spent an average of 282,969 yen ($1,890). The rate of decline expanded from a 2.5% drop in August. Real inflation-adjusted wages in September fell 2.4% from the previous year for the 18th straight monthly fall, separate data showed. Nominal wages, the average total cash earnings per worker including base and overtime pay, jumped 1.2% to 279,304 yen for the 21st consecutive month of climb, but they failed to keep up with rising prices, according to the Ministry of Health, Labor and Welfare. Food expenditure, accounting for over a third of household spending, fell 3.7%.

PHILIPPINES

INFLATION SLOWS DOWN IN OCT

Annual inflation in the Philippines slowed for the first time in three months in October, mainly because of slower increases in prices for food including rice, the statistics agency said on Tuesday. It will ease pressure on the country's central bank to hike interest rates further. The consumer price index jumped 4.9%, less than the 6.1% in September, and the central bank's 5.1% to 5.9% projection. Fall in food prices due to deceleration in rice price inflation to 13.2% in October from 17.9% in September, helped cool consumer prices last month. Excluding volatile food and energy prices, core inflation eased to 5.3% from 5.9% in the prior month. However, year-to-date average inflation of 6.4% over January-October remained outside the central bank's 2% to 4% comfort range for the year. The central bank had delivered an off-cycle policy rate hike of 25 basis points on October 26.

Mamaearth makes quiet mkt debut on expensive valuation, gains 4% on Day 1

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

UNLIKE a few initial public offers (IPOs) of recent times that made strong listing gains, Mamaearth's parent firm Honasa Consume could not generate enough buzz among investors on its debut as shares closed with a premium of only 4% on Tuesday, its first day of listing.

Honasa had raised ₹1,701 crore via public issue of over 5.2 crore equity shares last week and the issue was subscribed 7.6 times. The stock opened at ₹330 on the NSE, up 1.85% over the issue price of ₹324 per share. The shares closed 4.04% higher at ₹337.10. In comparison, shares of household products manufacturer Cello World on Monday got listed with a premium of 28% against issue price of ₹648. JSW Infra and Blue Jet debuted with double-digit gains.

Despite the shares closing with a gain, market analysts remain cautious about Honasa owing to expensive valuations. It commanded a market capitalisation of ₹10,848 crore after the first day's closing. Prashanth Tapse, senior VP and Research analyst at Mehta Equities, said despite aggressive pricing, risky investors feel the price is good for long-term as the business model has high potential of growth.

Tapse said he continues to remain cautious on Mamaearth on the back of the loss-making nature of the business, high portion of offer for sale (OFS), high competition with margin pressure, low promoter stake, and weak financials which suggest a cautionary stand as historical listings with high valuations have often faced post-listing challenges.

Market cap at ₹10,848 cr

IndiGo to ground 35 aircraft in Q4 due to technical issue

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIGO, India's leading airline, is likely to ground about 35 aircraft due to the powder metal issue on its Pratt & Whitney-powered fleet.

IndiGo said they have received additional information on the issue from the US-based aircraft engine maker Pratt & Whitney and based on the preliminary assessment of this, they anticipate Aircraft on Ground (AOG) in the range of mid-thirties in the fourth quarter (Jan-Mar2024) due to accelerated engine removals. Groundings will be incremental to the current AOGs. The airline had recently informed out of its fleet of 334 planes, grounded PW-powered aircraft stands at over 40. IndiGo said they continue to work with PW on more information and implementing measures to minimise impact of these AOGs on their capacity in Q4FY24 and beyond. Earlier this year, PW highlighted the impact of the issue that has affected its GTF aircraft engine. Globally, a large number of incremental engines ranging between 600-700 are being removed for accelerated inspections and shop visits between 2023 and 2026 and two-thirds of these engine removals are planned for 2023 and early 2024.

PhonePe elevates four officials as segment CEOs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

PHONEPE on Tuesday promoted four officials across verticals to CEO level.

Hemant Gala has been promoted to the role of CEO for PhonePe's lending business, Vishal Gupta as CEO for Insurance business. Gala has been part of the founding team at PhonePe and has worked across multiple businesses over the past seven years. Vishal has been part of the founding team and played multiple leadership roles across product, design, risk, customer-experience to build & scale the payments and merchants business.

Vivek Lohcheb has been promoted to the role of CEO for Pincode and will be responsible for scaling the Pincode offering across key cities in India. It also recently promoted Ujjwal Jain to the role of CEO of Share. Market and will be heading the company's wealth and broking business. The company also announced that it has crossed 500 million lifetime registered users on its platform. With this milestone, 1 in 3 Indians are now on PhonePe, the company said. "These executives have played a pivotal role in driving PhonePe's growth, and in their new roles, they will be responsible for the end-to-end management of these businesses, while also owning the strategy, and growth for their respective verticals," PhonePe said.

WeWork bankruptcy: India biz will not be affected, says CEO

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

FLEXIBLE space provider WeWork, valued at $47 billion in 2019, has filed for bankruptcy.

"WeWork Inc. and certain of its entities filed for protection under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, and intend to file recognition proceedings in Canada under Part IV of the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act (the "CCAA Recognition Proceedings")," the company said in a statement.

It has also entered into a Restructuring Support Agreement with holders representing approximately 92% of its secured notes to drastically reduce the company's existing funded debt and expedite the restructuring process. The SoftBank-backed office-sharing company tried to go public but failed five years ago and the pandemic caused further pain as many firms ended their leases.

WeWork said its locations outside the US and Canada are not part of this process and that the company's franchisees across the world are not affected by these proceedings.

In India, WeWork operates independently of WeWork Global. In a statement, Karan Virwani, CEO at WeWork India, said, "Our operations will not be affected. It is a separate entity in itself, and we are not a part of this strategic reorganisation process. The Chapter 11 filing does not impact the operations of the global entity as it continues to remain in possession of its business, operating as usual."

"The process restructures debts and leases of WeWork Global in the US and Canada. During this period, we will continue to hold rights to use the brand name as part of the operating agreement, while serving our members, landlords, and partners as usual," he added.

Govt to increase customs duty on shipping products

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

IN a bid to give impetus to Aatmnirbharbharat in the maritime sector, finance ministry is likely to raise basic customs duty (BCD) on fishing vessels, tugs and pusher crafts and light vessels from 5% to 50%, as per a government official.

"We are analysing the shipping ministry proposal and will make an announcement anytime soon. They have proposed to increase the rates on fishing vessels, tugs and pusher crafts and light vessels to 50% for next ten years and thereafter increase it to 100% from the year 10-25," the official stated.

He added that this is in line with the recommendations of Maritime India Vision 2030 (MIV 2030) launched by the Prime Minister in 2021 - wherein detailed deliberations were conducted with the Shipping Ministry and various central line ministries, maritime experts, shipbuilding associations and think tanks etc.

For lifeboats, BCD is likely to be imposed at 50% for next 10 years and 100% in 10-25 years. BCD is likely to be raised to 50% on barges or pontoons imported along with ships for the next ten years and thereafter increase it to 100% from the years 10-25. Recently, the government had to reverse its decision of imposing import restrictions on laptops due to criticism from the industry and the US.

Need user consent to send commercial messages: TRAI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) on Tuesday directed the telecom service providers to seek fresh consent from the people to send commercial messages or voice calls.

The telcos will now have to implement Digital Consent Acqusition (DCA). According to the regulatory body, the existing consents, acquired through alternative means by banks, other financial institutions, insurance companies, trading companies, business entities or real estate companies to send commercial messages to telecom subscribers through SMS or voice calls, will be rendered null and void after the implementation of DCA.

"It is highlighted that after implementing DCA, the existing consents, acquired through alternative means, shall be rendered null and void and fresh consents will have to be sought by all Pes (Principal Entities) through digital means only," reads the press note from Trai.

To curb the menace of spams through Unsolicited Commercial Communications (UCC), TRAI issued a direction on June 2, 2023, to all access providers to develop and deploy the DCA facility for creating a unified platform and process to register customers' consent digitally across access service providers and principal entities. TRAI had asked the principal entities to initiate consent collection as well, from September 1. Now the regulator has reiterated that all the PEs and telcos should onboard the new system.

BSNL to launch 4G in Haryana before Diwali after deploying services in Punjab

To use India made devices

Reason for the delay in its 4G launch is believed to be related to the equipment procurement process. The telco is procuring indigenous devices for its 4G services. It has now placed an order worth ₹19,000 crore with the TCS consortium and ITI for deploying 100,000 4G tower sites

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

STATE-owned telecom service provider Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) is set to begin deploying its 4G services in Haryana ahead of Diwali.

Haryana will be the second state after Punjab where the telco is launching its 4G network on a pilot basis. According to an official, the telco initially planned to deploy the network based on business interests, focusing on areas with higher demand. However, the strategy has now shifted to a statewise approach."

"After receiving a positive response to its 4G network in Punjab, the telco plans to expand its network to other states. Following Punjab, we will soon begin offering our 4G services in Haryana," said the official.

During the recently concluded India Mobile Congress (IMC), PK Purwar, Chairman and MD of BSNL, had announced that the company would commence the commercial rollout of 4G services starting in December. Currently, about 40,000 customers are using its 4G network, which has been deployed on a trial basis.

The 4G launch is coming at a time when Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel are deploying 5G networks. The reason for the delay in its 4G launch is believed to be related to the equipment procurement process. The telco is procuring indigenous devices for its 4G services. It has now placed an order worth ₹19,000 crore with the TCS consortium and ITI for deploying 100,000 4G tower sites across the country.

Shakib out of Bangladesh's last game

NEW DELHI: Bangladesh captain Shakib Al Hasan was on Tuesday ruled out of his side's last World Cup match against Australia owing to a fractured finger. The all-rounder sustained the injury on his left index finger while batting during Bangladesh's 3-wicket win over Sri Lanka in New Delhi on Monday.

Absolutely, I don't think there's ever a dead rubber when you play for England. To be honest, I think the lads are completely up for - we've got two games in which we need to win both to qualify for the Champions Trophy

MAXWELL THAT ENDS WELL

Fighting cramps, all-rounder slams double century to guide Oz to an improbable victory over Afghanistan at Wankhede in Mumbai

GOMESH S @ Chennai

(Top) Glenn Maxwell celebrates after guiding Australia to victory on Tuesday; Maxwell battled cramps during his epic innings that lasted 181 minutes | PTI

WHEN Glenn Maxwell took strike against Azmatullah Omarzai in the ninth over of the chase, it seemed like history was unfolding at the Wankhede Stadium. Australia, chasing 292, were 49/4. Omarzai was on a hat-trick after breaching through David Warner's defences before removing Josh Inglis, who was caught in the cordon. At this point, Afghanistan were on course.

Maxwell was lucky to survive the hat-trick ball — a sharp outswinger from over the wicket pitched on middle before curving away. As he has always done, Maxwell bought his bat down the curve. The ball took the outside edge right in front of the middle-stump, almost missing the off before reaching the keeper on the bounce. Such was the delivery that Afghanistan took a review to understand it was bat and not pad. Maxwell survived. It was the first sign about the kind of night the all-rounder, who had returned to the XI post a concussion thanks to a fall from a golf cart, was about to have.

Looking at the other end, his head-ache may have worsened as a procession was taking place. Marnus Labuschagne was run out. Soon after, Rashid Khan removed Marcus Stoinis and Mitchell Starc. 91/7. The ask? 201 runs. In the middle? Maxwell and Pat Cummins.

The stage was set, all that was needed for the Maxwell production to take off was some drama. It began in the 22nd over. Maxwell was trapped on the pads by Noor Ahmed. The Australian reviewed. He saw two reds and started walking off only to realise that the ball was missing. He survived. After a reverse sweep to four in the same over, something else happened. Mujeeb Ur Rahman dropped Maxwell at short fine leg, giving him a life. Again. This was it. It was going to be one of those days where he could do no wrong.

He might have fallen off a golf cart last Monday but his luck seems to have turned . And Maxwell being Maxwell, did not miss out. He brought out his golf-like-bat-swing to hit Rashid on the leg side apart from slog-sweeping against Noor before slicing him downtown. Cover drive against the spin to take on Mujeeb.

It might have given hope, but Australia were not even halfway. At this stage, they needed 147 from 22 overs. What did Maxwell do? Smash consecutive sixes off Noor. The edges would miss the fielders and run to the boundary. The scoops would be middled. The flat-batted sixes would come along. In no time, Maxwell sailed from 60 to yet another World Cup century. Captain Pat Cummins at the other end, was batting on eight from 37 balls. To call it a one man show would do this exhibition of showmanship little justice.

> Horrific, I feel shocking. It was quite hot when we were fielding, I haven't done a whole lot of high intensity exercise in the heat. It got a hold of me today, I was lucky to stick it out until the end.
>
> — Glenn Maxwell

In an increasingly desperate attempt to stop Maxwell, Hashmatullah Shahidi would turn to the most experienced teammate — Mohammad Nabi. At this point, apart from the chase and dropped catches, there was more drama to what was happening on the field. Maxwell had been cramping. He was also having back spasms. At various points, he was on his haunches. He even preferred to use the grass as a bed as he was prone.

Being him is not easy. Given his potential and his ability, the Australian has often been criticized for things he has missed out rather than being appreciated for what he has done. He has seen that season after season, year after year, especially during the Indian Premier League. In his ten years of international cricket, only twice has he gone past 600 ODI runs in a calendar year — one of them coming in 2015 when Australia won the World Cup. Maxwell knows what it is to be down and out and constantly on the radar than most. And he knows when he is in a zone and the need to make the most of it.

On Tuesday, in the heat and humidity of Mumbai, Maxwell was huffing and puffing, pulling his leg every time he ran, but he knew better than to walk off the field. He knew it was his day and he was not going to let go of it. He sent back Adam Zampa who was set to walk in when he was lying flat on the field. He stood in his crease and swatted his bat like one would wave at a mosquito and yet still sent the ball to the ropes or into the stands. He would reverse cut from the brink of off-stump, clip a yorker between the legs, flick over short-fine, slap over wide long on — all the while not even moving his foot. Not because he did not want to, but because he couldn't. Watching him defy the rules of batting was pure cinema.

And when it was clear that he was going to take the team across the line, Maxwell aimed to be more — the first Australian male cricketer to hit a double century. He and the team needed 21 runs. Maxwell vs Mujeeb. 47th over. Six. Six. Four. Six. Australia across the line and into the semis, and Maxwell 201 from 128 balls — 21 fours, 10 sixes, strike rate 157.03. Cummins 12 not out from 68 at the other end. Pretty much summed up the movie that was Maxwell's fury on Tuesday. It was the kind of knock one would dream about playing as a ten-year-old, sitting in a classroom, to save their team.

Words will do little justice as to what Maxwell did. Even he himself could not. But as Maxwell said after the match, he had his chances, and made the most of it. And that is something he will always be proud of. Briefscores: Afghanistan: 291/5 in 50 ovs (Zadran 129 n.o; Hazlewood 2/39) lost to Australia 293/7 in 46.5 ovs (Maxwell 201 n.o).

Race to top-4 intensifies...

With India, South Africa and Australia already booking their spot in the semifinal (the last two will face each other), the competition for the remaining one spot is heating up. Here's where teams stand right now...

AFGHANISTAN

They have already had a historic run. A loss against Australia means that they now have to beat South Africa to give themselves a chance to qualify. If they win the next one, they will have 10 points, and then their flight to knockouts will be dependent on the results involving New Zealand and Pakistan.

NEW ZEALAND

After four consecutive wins at the start of the tournament, the Kiwis have struggled with four back-to-back losses. A win against Sri Lanka on November 9 could keep them in the hunt for the semi-final with 10 points. The only drawback for the Kiwis is that amongst the sides eyeing the semifinal spot, their dependency on the other results is more. The rain threat in Bengaluru is not helping their cause either.

PAKISTAN

With their win against New Zealand in Bengaluru in a rain-marred game, they have kept the campaign alive. Yet, a lot of thing have to go their way in the other games, including New Zealand losing to Sri Lanka. The one advantage Pakistan have with the scheduling is that by the time they play England on November 11, they will have an idea of the margin of victory they need to make it to the semifinal.

Think that is the greatest ODI innings, says Cummins

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

Pat Cummins (L) & Glenn Maxwell | AFP

MATHEMATICAL models that predict wins and losses are supposed to make one's life easy while following a sport. When it comes to this edition of the Cricket World Cup, if the win predictor gives a team less than a 10% chance to win the match, one can forget any team coming out of that slump.

That was the case for Australia when Glenn Maxwell came out to bat in the chase against Afghanistan. But by the time he was done, Maxwell had smashed 201 not out off 128 balls, showing the limitations of mathematical models in cricket with his sheer grit. "I think that's the greatest ODI innings," Australian captain Pat Cummins, who supported Maxwell with his 12 off 68 balls from the other end declared in Mumbai. "It's one of those days where you just go, I was there in the stadium the day Glenn Maxwell chased down that total by himself. He was cramping but I think you saw out there how much he loves playing for Australia and do anything to play. I'm sure he'll be fine."

Maxwell, in his marathon innings that lasted 181 minutes, suffered from severe cramps and back spasms and had to take help of the physios on multiple occasions. At one point, Adam Zampa, slated to play at 10 even came down from the dressing room and stood near the boundary ropes, but Maxwell kept fighting even when his legs were not moving and his running between the wickets resembled to the walk of Charlie Chaplin. Even with all of it Maxwell put on a show that commentator Ian Smith described, "He's got nothing but hands and will."

Even Cummins was finding it hard to put into words. "I'm up the other end and I don't see any gaps in the field. I don't see where I'm going to score a boundary and it seems like every time, he sees that he just runs away for four. He still can't move and still manages to hit a six off the third man with reverse–he's a freak, he hits into different areas. And when you're up against someone like that as a bowler, you don't have many options," said Cummins, the bowler who was aware of the challenge Afghanistan bowlers faced against the right-hander. The Big Max Show was not always on card as Cummins admitted the team was looking to score at least 200 runs to get help on the Net Run Rate front when he joined Maxwell. But they found a way to seal the sixth consecutive win of the tournament and the semi-final spot in Mumbai.

These are the types of games that make mathematics bow down in front of sheer determination. Historically, these are the situations where Australians thrive. With their semi-final date set with South Africa, it is a chance to add another silverware to that trophy cabinet for Australia. With knocks like this, they might just do it. Yet again.

ENGLAND HAVE HAD A WORLD CUP TO FORGET AND ARE IN DANGER OF TAKING THE WOODEN SPOON. THEY'LL BE HOPING TO AVOID THAT. A LOOK...

CAN DEFENDING CHAMPS SAVE FACE

No one would have thought England would have such a campaign before the World Cup. With just one win in seven games, they are at the bottom of the table. Things do not seem be good in the dressing room and it seems like they have mentally checked out. Jos Buttler and his side will need some inspiration to turn up and put on a fight against Netherlands.

CHAMPIONS TROPHY IN PLAY

Placed at ninth and tenth, England and Netherlands will have a go at each other for a chance to be the only European team at the 2025 Champions Trophy. Both teams need a massive win and would want Sri Lanka and Bangladesh to lose their remaining games to have a chance of qualifying. The Dutch probably has a better chance as they are two points ahead of England.

CASTING aside their shattered title defence dream, England will now set sights on restoring their pride and secure a berth in the 2025 Champions Trophy when they face a plucky Netherlands in the World Cup here on Wednesday.

England have cut a sorry figure, managing just one win from seven matches in the World Cup to slip to the bottom of the 10-team table. The Netherlands are a tad better on ninth with two wins and four points. Both teams are out of the reckoning for a semifinal spot. The 33-run loss to arch rivals Australia on Saturday was the final nail in the coffin for England. While the Dutch are also officially out of the race. But with ICC announcing that the top seven teams and hosts Pakistan will qualify for the 2025 Champions Trophy, there has been a scramble for the last few spots.

Champions four years ago, England have hit rock-bottom in this edition. No England team has ever lost so many games at a World Cup. Whatever could go wrong has gone wrong for the Three Lions and they are no longer favourites even against minnows Netherlands. To avoid the ignominy of missing the cut for the prestigious Champions Trophy, England must win their remaining two fixtures against the Netherlands and Pakistan.

Uttarakhand versus Mumbai in women's T20 trophy final

ENS @ Chennai

SKIPPER Jemimah Rodrigues led from the front to help Mumbai beat Bengal by eight wickets and qualify for the final of the Senior Women's T20 Trophy in Raipur. In the other semifinal, Kerala lost to Uttarakhand. They will take on each other in the final on Thursday.

Opting to bat first against Mumbai, Bengal lost early wickets, but Priyanka Bala and Richa Ghosh steadied the ship. Bala scored 32 runs from 38 balls and Ghosh added an 18-ball 28, helping Bengal to get to 117/6 in 20 overs. In reply, Rodrigues hit an unbeaten 82 off 62 balls to guide Mumbai home.

Earlier, Kerala toiled to post 84/8. Uttarakhand chased down the target in 14.2 overs with eight wickets to spare.

Brief scores: Kerala 84/8 in 20 ovs (Reddy 22; Amisha 2/11) lost to Uttarakhand 85/2 in 14.2 overs (Punam 43 n.o); Bengal 117/6 in 20 ovs (Bala 32, Ghosh 28) lost to Mumbai 118/2 in 18.4 ovs (Rodrigues 82 n.o).

Spurs manager bemoans VAR use after loss to Chelsea

AGENCIES @ London

VAR intervened to signal red card for Spurs' Cristian Romero on Monday | AP

ANGE Postecoglou admitted he does not like VAR as the Tottenham boss blasted the replay system's influence on his side's "out of control" 4-1 defeat against Chelsea on Monday.

Tottenham had Cristian Romero and Destiny Udogie sent off and were denied two goals by VAR in a remarkable Premier League clash.

The dismissals of Romero, for a studs-up foul on Enzo Fernandez, and Udogie, who earned a second booking for chopping down Raheem Sterling, appeared correct on further review, as did Son Heung-min and Eric Dier's disallowed goals. Nicolas Jackson scored three times in the closing stages to win the London derby for Chelsea after Cole Palmer's penalty cancelled out Dejan Kulusevski's early opener for Tottenham.

But with Chelsea also having three goals chalked off by VAR, Postecoglou was left infuriated by the amount of time spent waiting for decisions to be made. "I felt like I was standing around waiting for things to happen with VAR intervention," he said.

"There will be a forensic study of every decision out there. That is the way the game is going and I don't like it.

"Decisions are decisions, you either accept it or you don't. If you look at all that standing around we did today, maybe people enjoy that sort of thing.

"I'd rather see us playing football but I could be a lone voice."

Tottenham's first league defeat since Postecoglou took charge in the close-season denied them the chance to regain top spot in the Premier League. And Postecoglou claimed he would prefer the referee and his linesmen to have the final say on crucial decisions, rather than a VAR official who is not even based in the stadium.

"You have to accept the referee's decision, that is how I grew up. This constant erosion of the referee's authority is where the game is going to get," the Australian said.

"They are not going to have any authority. We are going to be under the control of someone with a TV screen a few miles away."

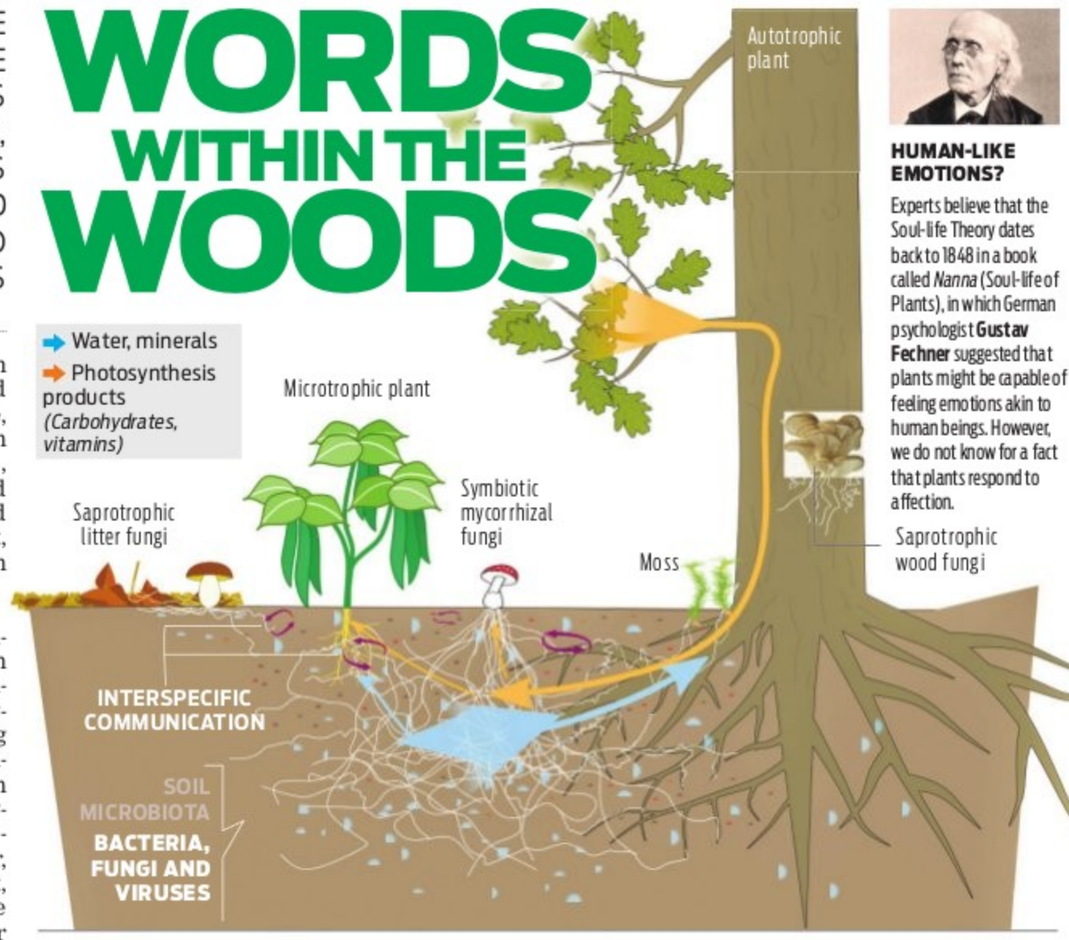
WORDS WITHIN THE WOODS

WHILE PLANTS HAVE LIFE, THEY HAVE ALSO EVOLVED WAYS TO COMMUNICATE, EXPRESS THEMSELVES AND RESPOND TO SITUATIONS

SONIA SALI



In Lewis Carol's Through the Looking-Glass and What Alice Found There, when Alice loses her way in a magical flower garden, she turns to a tiger lily and says, "I wish you could talk." To her astonishment, it replies, "We can talk when there's anybody worth talking to." The excerpt though a fantasy, science has proved otherwise, clarifying to the human world that plants can communicate, act, react and send signals, making them more living than just beings with no physical brains. Tracing back in time, the concept of plants having emotions was first discovered in 1848 by Gustav Fechner, an experimental psychologist, who claimed that plants have emotions and can grow better when talked to, given attention and affection. However, life reads differently in a jungle full of trees where they grow together.

The Wood Wide Web

While in the human world, we rely on the internet to communicate with our fellow beings, Peter Wohlleben, a German forester says trees communicate through the Wood Wide Web. He says trees are connected to each other through an underground fungal network. These fungi known as mycorrhizas help share water, nutrients and communicate with other trees about distress signals, diseases, droughts and insect attacks. Besides, trees also identify the similarities and differences in their microbial makeup to recognise trees from their own species and prefer sharing nutrients with them. Scientists call this the 'Kin Recognition'.

In a paper published in 1997 in Nature, it is suggested that plants do not compete, but cooperate with each other to help the other thrive. Alarm and distress are the prime tree conversations.

Monica Gagliano from the University of Western Australia says some plants emit and detect sounds -- a crackling noise in the roots at a frequency of 220 hertz that is inaudible to humans. They also communicate through the air using scent signals and pheromones. When a lawn is freshly mowed and the air smells thick of cut grass -- a blend of aldehydes, ketones, alcohols and esters -- it is the grass crying out for help signaling its neighbours of danger. Similarly, when a herbivore starts chewing the leaves of a tree/plant, it notices the injury and emits a distress signal in the form of ethylene gas that alerts the neighbouring trees/plants.

The neighbours start pumping tannins into their leaves in large quantities that will shoo away the herbivore. On the other hand, trees also have a sense of taste. Wohlleben writes that when leaves are attacked by leaf-eating caterpillars, they detect the saliva of the caterpillar and release pheromones that attract parasitic wasps. The wasps lay their eggs inside the caterpillars and eat them from the inside out.

Richard Karban, a professor of entomology at the University of California, in one of his experiments, notes that sagebrush plants sound alarms when they are attacked by pests, thus pushing other sagebrush plants to grow faster and stronger.

Besides, flowers also communicate with pollinators through colours, patterns, shapes and fragrances. Researchers at the University of Bristol discovered that bumblebees are positively charged and flowers negatively charged. When a bee sits on a flower, there is an exchange of energy that creates an electric field that the bee feels. Thus, this connection imprints the flower on the bee's memory, encouraging it to return. Moreover, plants can also listen and respond likewise. Researchers found that pea plants direct their roots towards the sound of moving water, even if it is just a recording and no actual water present. Primrose flowers automatically produce sweeter nectar by the very sound of bees buzzing – artificial or natural.

HUMAN-LIKE EMOTIONS?

Experts believe that the Soul-life Theory dates back to 1848 in a book called Nanna (Soul-life of Plants), in which German psychologist Gustav Fechner suggested that plants might be capable of feeling emotions akin to human beings. However, we do not know for a fact that plants respond to affection.

Mothering the young

Suzanna Simard from the University of British Columbia who is best known for her research on 'mother trees' says these trees are the oldest and biggest in a forest that has a much-advanced fungal network. Though not female trees always, they play the role of a supportive, maternal figure owing to their deep roots that help them draw water to shallow rooted seedlings. They share their excess nitrogen and carbon through mycorrhizal networks with understory seedlings, thus increasing their chances of survival. They also reinforce their neighbour trees by supplying them nutrients, and when one of them is struggling, mother trees detect the distress signals and supply nutrients accordingly, more like an old mother backing up her young daughters. Mother trees are the central hub in a forest and are connected to hundreds of other trees. However, research makes it clear that kin seedlings receive more carbon from mother trees than stranger seedlings.

From the light of the above findings, it is evident that plants do communicate with each other. Scientists argue that trees do not have any will or intention of their own, but they are living beings like us. Therefore, though science still does not completely agree with the consciousness of plants, we can at least let them grow old with dignity and die at a ripe old age.

ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT

A REVOLUTION IN THE MAKING IN BATTERY TECHNOLOGY

A big worry with current commercial batteries is their reliance on liquid electrolytes, which poses risks of flammability and explosions. This has shifted the focus towards developing non-combustible solid electrolytes to advance solid-state battery technology. This is a crucial shift in direction as the world gears up to regulate internal combustion engine vehicles to encourage and popularize the use of electric vehicles in the ongoing global shift toward sustainable transportation. With this, research into core components of secondary batteries, particularly solid-state batteries, has gained significant momentum. Now researchers from Centre for Nanoparticle Research at Institute for Basic Science (IBS), South Korea, have developed new designs for solid-state electrolytes which may soon revolutionize the battery industry. Considered a breakthrough in the field of next-generation solid-state batteries, their new finding will enable creation of batteries based on a novel chloride-based solid electrolyte that exhibits exceptional ionic conductivity. Scientists have in the past explored chloride-based solid electrolytes, known for superior ionic conductivity, mechanical flexibility, and stability at high voltages. But chloride batteries were considered impractical due to their heavy reliance on expensive rare earth metals like yttrium, scandium, and lanthanide, as secondary components. The researchers have introduced designs mitigating these factors. They demonstrated the improvement by creating a lithium-metal-chloride solid-state battery based on zirconium, which is far cheaper, employing rare earth metals, an advantage of metal ions on a the material's ionic conductivity.

FASTER BRAIN SIGNAL-TO-VOCAL PROCESS FOR SPEECH IMPAIRED

Neuroscientists of Duke University have developed a speech prosthetic that can translate brain signals into speech, helping those with neurological disorders. The new prosthetic, which entails placing a cluster of microscopic sensors on the surface of the brain, can enable 'translation' from brain signals to speech through a brain-computer interface by decoding signals from the brain's speech centre to predict what the affected individual is trying to say. Even using the sensors, there is lag between spoken and decoded speech rates partially due the relatively few brain activity sensors that can be fused onto a paper-thin piece of material placed on the brain's surface. But fewer sensors provide less decipherable information to decode. To make it better, researchers packed 256 microscopic brain sensors onto a postage stamp-sized piece of flexible, medical-grade plastic.

DIGITAL FACE-OFF

In the wake of a morphed viral video of actor Rashmika Mandanna catching the nation's attention, prominent figures react to the situation, the potential impact of the technology on their own lives, and possible ways to combat the pervasive use of such know-how

DESE GOWDA

ACTOR Rashmika Mandanna woke up to a rude shock on Nov 6, when she came across a morphed video of herself trending on social media. Created using machine learning tech, the video, popularly dubbed as 'deepfake', featured Mandanna's face superimposed atop the body of a UK-based model. In a statement posted on social media, Mandanna said she found the experience 'extremely scary' and labelled it as a 'great misuse of tech'.

Meanwhile, the reactions from Mandanna's fellow actors and netizens alike were telling. Amitabh Bachchan called for legal action against the creators of the said video, while others argued for a regulatory framework to govern the technology's ethical use. Actor Kajol Chugh reflects a sense of violation, having chosen not to view the video to avoid adding to its virality. "I am deeply disturbed by this incident. I'm sure it went viral in the first place because she's a popular actor. I don't know the extent to which this technology is being misused, but I'm also sure that there are other such media which haven't gone viral," she shares, adding, "It seems like a horrifying time to live in, but I don't know what an approach to combat this would look like. The government could step in and regulate it, but it may come with its own problems. However, the platforms which host such content have a responsibility to stop their spread. So do the people who consume such content. I understand that being public figures, we sort of become 'public property' in a way, but we already give so much of ourselves to the fans, through our art, but these incidents should never be encouraged."

Imagine being a family member of an affected person and coming across such videos. It's unimaginable. I hope some sort of legal action is taken and also that all the platforms that currently have the video take it down

Priya Mani, actor

The underlying technology behind the viral video has existed for nearly half a decade now and has seen several positive uses, most prominently in the UK's Queen Elizabeth II's 2020 Christmas address. It has also been used in Hollywood and Indian films, generally for 'de-aging' older actors. However, experts in the field have been raising alarms about the tech's increasing misuse over the years. Even as the technology has become ever more accessible, virtually no regulatory framework exists in India to combat its threats to individual privacy as well as its uses in misinformation.

Singer MD Pallavi points out the core of the issue: consent. The emotional response to the video isn't just about its content, but the fundamental right to one's image and the decision to share it. "It's extremely problematic and I feel bad for Rashmika, and also the other person involved, whose body was morphed. It doesn't matter what is happening in the video, what matters is whether the person featured in it has consented to it. There is a need for strict regulations on the technology's uses. It's obviously complicated and I may not be the right person to say how it should be done. But the important factor is if a person's likeness is being used without their explicit consent, it shouldn't be okay."

Similarly, actor Priya Mani, who stumbled upon the video, sheds light on the experience one's loved ones might go through with such incidents. "If you think from the perspectives of the people involved, it is horrendous. Imagine being a family member of an affected person and coming across such videos. It's unimaginable. I hope some sort of legal action is taken and also that all the platforms that currently have the video take it down," she says, adding, "The advances in technology are obviously good, but incidents like these make me wish that humanity was still in the Stone Age. I knew that morphing images was possible, but I was genuinely taken aback that videos could be morphed as well."

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. Bengalureans boast of having a national park on the outskirts. The park, spread across an area of 104 sqkm, was established in the year 1971 and acquired the status of a national park in 1974. The park, known for its tiger and lion safari, houses a zoo, conservatories and a museum and is home to an exquisite variety of flora and fauna. Name the well-known national park.

2. Nallur Tamarind Tree Grove located on the outskirts of Bengaluru is one of India's earliest biodiversity heritage sites dating back to Chola times. Here lies the ruins of a 12th century Channakesava temple in the midst of a 54-acre tamarind tree grove where some of the oldest trees date back to 400 years. Towards which part of Bengaluru is the grove located. North or South?

3. With the initiative of Maharaja Krishnaraja Wodeyar IV, the Forest Research Laboratory was set up in Bengaluru in the year 1938. The idea was born out of two Mysore Forest Service Probationers, Dr MN Ramaswamy and Dr SA Kabir. Near which prominent lake (earlier known as 'Gandhada Koti Kere') in Bengaluru is the laboratory located?

Homegrown Heroes

This docuseries celebrates the diverse passions that thrive within the city

POOJA DAS

EVERY Bengalurean who has taken a ride in the Metro has heard a soothing female voice, guiding them to the next station. While the voice keeps the riders grounded in their travels every day, many might not know it belongs to the popular Kannada TV presenter, Aparna Vastarey. Vastarey's story, Voice of Namma Metro, will be one of the three inspiring city stories in the upcoming docuseries, HomeGrown, by Faces of Bengaluru (FoB), a city-based media house. The other two documentaries The Willow Doctor and Reviving Legends, will feature the bat repairer, Ram Bhandari, and the rare vintage bike mechanics, Fairoz and Moosa Khan, respectively. The docuseries, produced in association with FUJI film and 'B·LORE' (a series featuring stories from the city) will be released on FoB's YouTube channel around mid-November.

Vikas Badiger, founder of FoB says, "We wanted to choose whoever had these niche skill sets and went on to make a career out of it." Badiger, who started FoB in 2016, had decided to shift full-time to making documentary films in 2020, which is when he connected with Sharan GC and Venu Gopal, the directors of the other two documentaries of HomeGrown. "Human interest stories are something that I have always loved to convey to people and that was the intention behind FoB as well. The city itself is very close to my heart. What we do on a daily basis is chaotic yet something that not a lot of cities can do," says Badiger.

Sharing his thought process for the series, Badiger says they wanted to tell stories of individuals who have a unique cultural impact. "One voice that someone gave in 2011 is being used across the city, with millions of people listening to it to get to know the directions; the cultural impact that these people have is huge. Through three such stories, we wanted to convey that even if you are good at one skill, no matter how niche, you can lead a life here in Bengaluru." For Badiger, who is also the executive producer of the docuseries, the biggest challenge was the time each story demanded despite the short duration. "It took time for them to open up to us and trust us with their story."

Sharan GC, who will be debuting as a director with the documentary Reviving Legends, says, "I have loved vintage motorcycles from my childhood days. My passion for bikes gave me the capability to give the film more depth while shooting." Venu Gopal, director of The Willow Doctor has been involved in multiple projects with FoB. Being a cricket enthusiast, Venu Gopal says, "When I heard his story, I felt it had to be told. Even after having repaired bats of legends like Sachin Tendulkar and Rahul Dravid, his simplicity was what made me love the story even more."

Honouring Legacy with Handcrafted Luxury

EVERY little girl has at some point dreamt of wearing the finest jewellery there is. Making these lifelong dreams come true for its patrons, Arjunaa Vara Jewellers takes pride in creating dazzling pieces that put erstwhile royalty to shame. Taking great care in ensuring that every Arjunaa bride's trousseau becomes something she cherishes for a lifetime, it creates a certain aesthetic appeal that is hard to ignore.

Winner Of National Jewellery Award

Arjunaa Jewellers has won the National Jewellery Awards 2020-21 under the category 'Paramparik Jewellery of the year, An Artisan's Pride', one of the most prestigious awards in the jewellery industry in India. Receiving this award in its first year itself is an achievement, and this is just the beginning for Arjunaa.

Accuracy In Design

Founded in 2020, the brand promise of Arjunaa Vara Jewellers to each of its stakeholders is 'Accuracy in Design': an ode to a consistent strife in making sure that all patrons get nothing but the best from the house of Arjunaa. Well on its way to becoming a noticed name in the industry while also in constant touch with the pulse of its patrons, both in-store and online, Arjunaa aims to bring about a slow and steady revolution in the way most people make associations with jewellery and articles: that beautiful and luxurious does not necessarily mean heavy and inaccessible.

Conceptualisation

Backed by a multi-generational legacy of over six decades in the business of jewellery, Arjunaa Jewellers was conceptualized to be a house of all things precious, bringing together a range of offerings from gold, silver and other precious metal, to the widest available range of coloured stones and gemstones. Placing utmost emphasis on ensuring quality without making beautiful, handcrafted luxury jewellery a mere dream to patrons, the brand's promise of 'Accuracy in Design' is an ode to a consistent strife in making sure our patrons get nothing but the best.

Offering customization where necessary to exemplary service in each in-store experience, Arjunaa – a brand born in Bangalore to young blood entrepreneurs carrying forward their family's heritage – takes pride in being an Indian, home-grown brand with a global approach to the modern tastes in all jewellery and articles. All designs at Arjunaa are carefully crafted by skilled artisans who come from a long line of experts in their respective fields: rooted in the beauty of tradition but versatile in the functionality of each piece.

BOOK NOOK

The Moon in Foil
By Zuska Kepplová

Paris, London, Helsinki and Budapest serve as backdrops to the stories of post-communist emigrants. They try to build new routines and craft fresh identities. This novel is a millennials' odyssey, a search for the self by the post-Cold War generation.

The Book of Commentary
by Alexander Kluge

The book confronts the readers with questions of existential meaning, especially in the backdrop of the Coronavirus pandemic — How fragile are we as human beings? How fragile are our societies? What is a 'self' an 'I,' a 'community'? How are we to orient ourselves? And what, if any, role does commentary play?

The Absent Colour
By Anilkumar Payyappilly Vijayan

This is a book full of questions whose answers can be found if we are willing to work for them, indulging in the risks the poet will have us take. The poems lead you down a rabbit hole of magic.

Fake News
By Gaurav Sood

Foregrounded in rigorous research, it examines how fake news is used by companies, political parties, and leaders to create, amplify, and even tarnish a brand's image and equity. It emphasises how the customers' perception of a brand impacts and influences its reputation, and acts as a decisive force in them gaining or losing competitive advantages.

FIT BIT

EKA PADA SIRSASANA PALMS TO FLOOR
(FOOT BEHIND THE HEAD POSE PALMS TO FLOOR)

This challenging seated pose is associated with the Anahata (heart) chakra, which increases feelings of love and compassion. It is a part of the intermediate series or Nadi Shodhana of Ashtanga yoga. It should be performed with the help of an expert.

STEPS

- Sit on the floor comfortably in Dandasana with legs stretched.
- Inhale, bend your right leg at the knee, lift the right foot and bring it near the trunk by holding the right ankle with your hands. Place the leg on the back of the neck with toes pointing upwards.
- Exhale, keep the back straight and move the right foot from the shoulders.
- Make sure that the back of the right thigh touches the back of the right shoulder.
- Place your palms on the floor, near to the hips. If the head is not held up properly, the leg will slip off the neck. The back of the left leg should touch the floor.
- Remain in this position from 15 to 60 seconds and continue deep breathing.
- To release, hold the right ankle with both hands, lower the right leg to the ground and straighten it.
- Repeat this pose on the left side by placing the left leg behind the neck.
- Do the pose on both sides for the same duration of time.

BENEFITS

- Helps increase the blood flow, especially in your back.
- The increased blood flow helps remove toxins that are accumulated.
- The pose improves the hemoglobin levels.
- Helps people who suffer from anemia and nervous trembling.
- Helps digest food quickly.
- This pose also increases your flexibility.
- It makes hips and legs flexible and spine more supple.

LIMITATIONS
People suffering from sciatica, hip problem or hernia, have spinal problems or injuries and problems with the back or knees, avoid this.

POWER OF TOLERANCE

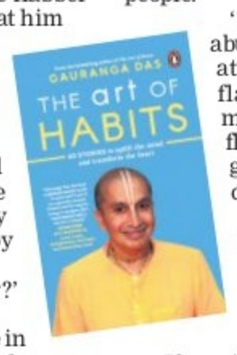
HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

A saintly person was once passing through a village. That village was known for its sinful people, and they were indeed infamous for insulting others.

As the saint passed through, they caught hold of him and started blaspheming him, defaming him and shouting expletives at him. The saintly person that he was, he stood there unfazed, hearing all of it quietly.

When they finally ended, he looked at them and said politely, 'I'm in a hurry. I need to go to another town. When I return here on the way back, you can continue with it.'

The villagers were flabbergasted. They looked at him and said, 'We hurled so many insults at you and you did not get affected? How is it possible?'



The saint replied calmly, 'Well, maybe ten years ago,I may have been affected by this.'

'What about now?' asked one villager. 'Since then, I engage in chanting of God's holy names, I meditate and I am engaged in self-realization. I realize that my identity will not change due to one incident.'

The people marvelled at him. They wondered if such people could still exist in the world.

The sage continued, 'I don't accept what you give me. You shouted all kinds of abuses at me. But I didn't accept any of them. I am not allowing you to hurt me. Further, you can only affect me if I accept those abuses and the ill feelings which you've thrown at me.'

The people felt ashamed. And at the same time, they developed deep respect for the most sagacious gentleman they had ever met in their life.

'I try to control myself,' the sage added. 'I try to control my mind. A person with a controlled mind will not allow anything, as far as circumstances are concerned, to affect him and impact him.'

The mood of the crowd changed, and the seer observed that they were listening to him in rapt attention. Hence he wanted to conclude with an analogy that could pierce their hearts and transform them deeply.

'Think of it this way,' he began, 'a flaming branch of a tree may be hurled but if that flaming branch comes in contact with a river, it gets extinguished and becomes a flowing log in that river.'

This light of knowledge from the saint illuminated the ignorance in the minds of the people.

'Therefore, all the abuses that you threw at me were like a flaming torch. But my mind, like a cold, flowing river, extinguished them,' he concluded.

The villages begged forgiveness and prostrated in front of the seer as he moved along.

If one is insulted, if one is cheated, if one is cursed, if one is neglected, if one is killed, in spite of all of these, great personalities are extremely tolerant in all situations and they do not counter. They learn how to tolerate this because they know that the power of tolerance is the pathway to holistic progress in life.

Fundamentally, great personalities understand that they are not the body but the soul. As a result, they understand that what is being hurled at them is aimed at the body and not the soul.

The inherent pessimism of Indian fans

INDIA is sweeping aside all competition and crushing every opponent at the World Cup. It's something I haven't seen in an Indian team earlier – this ruthless approach to decimating all opposition. Pakistan is not even a competitor anymore. But even erstwhile scary teams like Australia and South Africa have barely been able to graze us as the Indian juggernaut moves on. With such spectacular form, you'd expect Indian fans to be happy about this. But that isn't the case. Listen to the whispers clearly and you'll find people expressing their fear that India might lose a match soon!

But why is that? I theorise that Indians have developed a pessimistic attitude towards cricket. An attitude that comes from decades of what I like to call the 'Sachin trauma'. Kids of today will never fully grasp what Sachin meant to Indians at the time. Roads were empty when he played, prayers shot up to heavens at a rate of 500 prayers/household. And when Sachin got out, people collectively switched off their TVs. Grumpy dads returned to the newspaper and mothers got on with the day.

Also, Indians are a fatalistic people. We believe in fate, destiny and karma. We conduct poojas for planets and wear rings to ward off evil forces. I once went through an astrology chart and found out that I'm a manglik. Which means if I have to get married, I first have to marry a tree and father little saplings. So maybe we have a natural proclivity for believing in luck, omens and signs. Till a few days back, I was of the same opinion. I felt that India just HAD to lose a match. I was afraid that they were peaking too early. This feeling comes from years of playing well in World Cups, only to lose in the semi-finals or finals. Who can forget the scarring of 2003? Where an entire generation collectively mourned the death of their innocence. As Ricky Ponting butchered our bowlers, an entire nation believed that he had placed springs in his bat!

But something caught my eye recently, that made me change my opinion. If India wins every single match in the tournament (including the finals), we won't be the first team to do it. The West Indies did it in 1975 and 1979. And Australia went undefeated in both 2003 and 2007. Like Australia in the 2000s, the Indian team of today is aggressive and relentless. They don't shy away from an altercation on the field and proudly wear their emotions on their sleeve. Like Ricky Ponting, Virat Kohli can sledge any player and then back it up with soul-crushing centuries. And just the other day, former Pakistan cricketer Hasan Raza speculated that India was winning because they were changing the ball to suit our team. And that is when I realised that India is the new Australia. We play aggressively, do not back off from a fight, and do not lose matches.

I now support the Indian team without fear or superstition. I want them to win every match, beat every other team, and wipe the plate clean with their victory in the finals. As for the fans, we need to get over our inferiority complex. India today contributes more than 80 per cent of the world's cricket revenues. Our cricketers live like emperors – enjoying the best facilities available on earth. Thanks to the IPL, even cricketers in their early 20s have hobnobbed with the most senior players in world cricket. To misquote Rabbi Hillel – 'If not now, when?'

Megha Shetty joins Prajwal Devaraj in Cheetah

The film directed by Raja Kalai Kumar, also starring Sruthi Hariharan, and Telugu actor Sunil is currently in production

Prajwal Devaraj

CE FEATURES

Prajwal Devaraj is currently busy shooting for choreographer-turned-director Raja Kalai Kumar's debut project, titled Cheetah, which kicked off this week. The latest development concerning this film centers around its leading lady. Megha Shetty has now joined the cast and is also said to have participated in the present shooting schedule.

Initially, we reported that South Indian actor Ashima Narwal was making her Kannada debut in this film. Unfortunately, due to date issues, Ashima had to exit the project, and now Megha Shetty is said to play the female lead.

Megha, who transitioned from the world of serials, commenced her film career with the Ganesh starrer Tribble Riding and followed it with Dilpasand. She is also part of director Devanuru Chandru's Gramayana, which also stars Vinay Rajkumar and Yogi

Cheetah, produced by Prathiba Naresh for Rajalakshmi Entertainment, also boasts the presence of Telugu actor Sunil and is set to showcase Sruthi Hariharan in a distinctive role.

Leonilla Shwetha D'Souza on board Nelson

Arun Kumar

The actor has been chosen as the female lead alongside Vinod Prabhakar after an audition and look test

CE FEATURES

Arun Kumar's debut directorial, Nelson, featuring Vinod Prabhakar, is currently in production and has generated interest due to its title, first look, teaser, and inclusion of folklore elements. As the team has been shooting with the lead actor for a few days, they have been simultaneously finalising the rest of the cast. After an extensive search, they have now selected Leonilla Shwetha D'Souza for a significant role. She made her entry into the film industry with a Bollywood movie called Y directed by Giridev Hassan. In addition to her Bollywood venture, she has also worked in the Kannada film Khasagi Putagalu and has signed up for Hejjaru.

The makers of Nelson decided to bring Leonilla Shweta on board after her initial audition and look test. An official announcement of Shwetha D'Souza coming on board is set to be made soon.

The film is based on a true story that unfolded in the gangster community of the Chamarajanagar district, spanning from the 1960s to the 1990s. It portrays the region's language, culture, landscape, water, and the challenges faced by tribal communities. As Arun Kumar states previously, Nelson conveys a powerful message and features a significant storyline. The makers, who have shot for a few days have planned to resume shoot on November 17. It will take place in various locations, including Chamarajnagar, Sangam, Madeshwara Betta, and Satyagala among other places.

Produced by BM Sreeram, the film also stars Gopal Krishna Deshpande in a crucial role. While the dialogues are penned by Hari Mahadev, the action sequences are choreographed by stunt master Ravi Verma. The other pivotal members of the team include cinematographer Prajwal Gowda, and composer Bharath BG.

'Garadi will be a make-or-break moment in my career'

says Soorya, who shares that his greatest strength comes from Darshan, and how he can't afford to make a mistake in a film that is directed by Yogaraj Bhat

A SHARADHAA

Soorya, formerly known as Yashas Surya, embarked on his acting journey with Yuga Yugale Sagali. Having worked in 23 films over a 15-year journey, he remains dedicated to his goal of achieving stardom. Soorya reflects on the role of luck and the importance of seizing the right opportunities in the film industry. He further emphasises the need for results, both in terms of audience appreciation and commercial success. Soorya is pinning his hopes on his upcoming film, Garadi, set to release on November 10.

He acknowledges that there were times he contemplated stepping back from the film industry. "Every time I failed, I wanted to step back from the cinema industry, but fate brought me back. Recently, after my marriage, I considered moving away, but again, Darshan Sir, who always gave that shoulder to my career, and my life, came to my support. He referred me to Yogaraj Bhat for Garadi, and discussions with producer BC Patil followed, eventually bringing me on board. In fact, Darshan Sir gave his word to the director and producer, promising to play a special role in the film if I was chosen, becoming a pillar of strength," says Soorya, detailing how he secured the role.

Soorya left no stone unturned, giving a hundred per cent effort to the film. "The film has given me the opportunity to work with acclaimed director Bhatru under a renowned production house, with V Harikrishna as the music director, and Darshan Sir in a special role. To me, Garadi will be a make-or-break moment in my career, and I was determined not to make any mistakes," he says.

Describing his role in Garadi, Soorya explains that it closely aligns with his real-life experiences. "The character I portray is a person who repeatedly faces failures yet maintains unwavering confidence in achieving success. The role embodies innocence and portrays a humble individual working in the wrestling milieu, taking forward the journey towards personal success," he says.

Soorya's contribution to Garadi is evident in the context of preparing for the role. "Although I wasn't familiar with this art form, I had basic training in kickboxing, Muay Thai, and Karate. However, wrestling comes with its requirements for strength and intelligence, which poses a unique challenge. I underwent two months of specialised training, further refining my skills on the set with guidance from real wrestlers. I attended acting classes, along with others in the team, rehearsed dialogues, and was meticulous during shooting. This effort is sure to be evident on the silver screen," he says.

THE RIGHT SIDE OF LIFE

NAMRATA JOSHI

Long after Tracy Droz Tragos's documentary Plan C is over, you are left with lingering images of some passionate, determined, courageous and driven women that the film is centred on. There's Francine Coeytaux, a social scientist and women's health advocate specialising in reproductive health programmes. She, along with her partner, Elisa Wells, co-founded the groundbreaking Plan C initiative in the USA to spread information among women about online access to safe and effective abortion pills.

The documentary also has many more self-proclaimed "anarchists" trying to bring about a positive change for women. "It feels like a revolution", is how they see it.

Plan C is about this network of ordinary American women, midwives, doctors, feminists and activists fighting for the reproductive rights and choices of women and the rightful access to abortion pills, that are severely restricted in the US but used widely across the world. As one of them describes it, they are "running a drug cartel in order to help people".

Plan C that premiered at the Sundance Film Festival was filmed over four years, from 2018 to 2022 and is as driven about its subject as the women featured in it. It moves urgently, is propulsive, powerful and assertive. It grounds the issue in recent US history and politics—Donald Trump and the rise of Republican conservatism, especially in the judiciary, all leading to the overturning in 2022 of Roe v Wade—the landmark 1973 Supreme Court decision of protecting women's right to have an abortion. It closes with the frightening scenario of abortion bans coming in effect in an increasing number of states in America. But far from going quiet because of the unhelpful law, the women in the film are sure of turning their dissent even louder than before. As Francine says: "You have to stand up to the bully, not run and hide."

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

Film: Plan C

What stands out starkly is the sad state of reproductive rights and justice across one of the world's superpowers. Despite a rooted feminist movement and gender discourse, it's the government that gets the right to decide on women's choices when it comes to their own bodies. Beyond the draconian laws is the surveillance by fellow citizens, even physicians turning cops. As the filmmaker puts it—intensely personal health care decisions, that should ideally involve the patient and the physician, are turned public. There are curbs on freedom of expression, bans on social media. Yet these women go on about their job safely, often stealthily, mobilising other women in the face of fear and censorship.

The film shows the human side of its protagonists, the dangers they are up against and the risks they are taking each day. "I feel called to do it. Like you pick up a crying child. You just do it," says one. Not just themselves, but they are exposing their kids and families to threats as well.

At a time when the pill is medically safe but legally fraught in the US, the film respects the right to privacy of women who so desire, protects the identities, obscuring places, several faces are kept hidden and many testimonies are aural, often through phone calls.

In that respect, the film looks ahead at the alternatives that have come to play during the pandemic—telemedicine and self-management at home. When the going gets tough, the tough get going. There's ingenuity in a valid, legal subversion of the law through mail-based abortion pills. As Wells puts it in the film, if Pfizer is out there and delivering Viagra directly to homes, why is there the element of stigma and shame around abortion pills? Especially when they are safe, effective, and approved by the Food and Drug Administration and the World Health Organisation.
